Christmas Greetings

(Dr. Hughes Bentley Morris, pastor of First Methodist Church, Arlington Heights, has written a Christmas message for Paddock Publications at the editor's invitation.)

This week that part of the world that has been influenced by the Birth of Jesus Christ is busy preparing to celebrate the day we call His birthday.

A deeply rooted hunger drives us to look again for something from out of this world to help us solve the problems that keep facing us: greed, materialism, intemperance. With humanity venturing into outer space, we need more than ever to find the Christ . . . God's answer to man's needs.

Decorations in homes, stores, and streets blend with music from choristers and hi-fi tapes in an attempt to recreate the atmosphere we associate with His birthday. Our concern is not just how to recapture a mood, but to find the Living Christ. If we find Him and accept Him into our lives as our personal Saviour, He will bring us into the proper personal fellowship with God that will mean new life—now and eternally.

Will you miss the Christ this Christmas?

In Luke's story of His birth, we are reminded that "she gave birth to her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger because there was no place for them in the inn." Luke 2:7 RSV.

Some people missed Him on the first Christmas. Lack of room in the inn means more than we usually think. Joseph and Mary were not shut out abruptly. Joseph must have been there many times before, and it is possible that the servants recognized him. Can it be that the atmosphere of the inn kept them out on that occasion?

The Roman census had brought many people back to the place of their birth. Old memories were revived. Celebration was the escape the people sought to blank out of their minds the sordid facts of a Roman army of occupation. Perhaps, in the half-opened door, Mary saw conduct that caused her to draw back. This was not the atmosphere for the Son of God to come into at his Birth. To have stayed and let Him be born there might have cut His life shorter than did Calvary. There was no room in this atmosphere for the Birth of God's Son.

Some people missed the Christmas presence then! They missed Him because the atmosphere was not right.

John's Gospel points out that even His own people rejected Him. This is hard to imagine until we draw a modern parallel.

"He came to His own home, and His own people received Him not." John 1:11 RSV.

Can you imagine a married couple, well passed middle life, who once each year visit stores, buy baby things, decorate a nursery in their guest room, as though they were expecting a new baby? They display baby clothes, go through all the preparations, and then, one evening, they gather around the crib, sing lullabies, shed a somber tear of remembrance, wait a day or two, and put the gifts and decorations away.

Why? They are trying to recapture something they had and lost. It is a sad story. Several years ago a baby did come to their home. It was during the busy war years. Times were critical. Life was a constant emergency. The father was in war production. The mother felt it was her duty to go to work. The baby was a problem. They thought of relatives in the country. This was the answer. It was so practical.

National Headquarters for Firm

Eversharp Pen Co. Comes to Arlington

Arlington Heights will become the home of the Eversharp Pen co. next month.

This was announced late last week by the Parker Pen co. along with a disclosure that it will take over the writing instrument division of Eversharp, Inc. January 1.

NATIONAL headquarters of the new Parker subsidiary will be a building at 1440 E. Davis st., in the Arlington Heights industrial district. Administrative offices and shipping and service facilities will be quartered in the one-story brick structure, which contains 12,000 square feet.

These operations will be transferred here from Eversharp's present plant at 1800 W. Roscoe in Chicago.

Production of Eversharp pens and pencils will continue, however, at the Culver City, Calif., plant of Kimberly corp., which was included in the cash sale and will be a separate Parker subsidiary.

FRIDAY'S announcement followed ratification of the sale contract Tuesday by Parker's board of directors. Eversharp had previously voted on the transaction. Neither Eversharp's shaving equipment division nor any other phase of its organization was involved in the sale.

Parker president Bruce M. Jeffris said his firm's purpose in acquiring the business was to "continue to diversify operations within our industry" and to bring the firm into the lower-priced market with an entrenched brand name.

C. George Heath, former sales and advertising vice president of Eversharp's Canadian operation, has been appointed to head up the new subsidiary.

AN EVERSHARP executive said the company had recently been losing money on its pen business.

The building on a 1.7-acre tract has been leased from owner William Cherney. It was built in 1950 and occupied by the McLean Manufacturing co., metal goods fabricators, from then until early in 1956.

The McLean firm moved its own building nearby and a firm making precast concrete wheel stops occupied it until going out of business earlier this year.

INDUSTRIAL operations have been carried on at the site for about 30 years. The tile sewers laid in Arlington Heights in 1929 were all made there and its tall smokestack was erected while an insulation firm was located there.

A series of blazes occurred at the plant during the 1940's and the frame building was finally destroyed by fire.

New Disorderly Conduct Code Approved by Board

You'd better make that New Year's Eve a rousing wingding.

By the time the next occasion for horn-tooting and such rolls around, Arlington Heights will have in its code book a new law that might dampen your frivolity some.

THE LAW is an ordinance covering disorderly conduct, and it was approved by the village trustees last week.

But it won't go into effect until January 3, 1958, by which time everything ought to have simmered down to normal. A state law says that no ordinance becomes effective until 10 days after publication in today's newspaper.

Purpose of the new law is to widen the definition of "disorderly conduct" to include a lot more things, thereby giving police more authority to handle a few "minors" who have been congregating downtown and generally making a nuisance of themselves.

THE BRIEF OLD law read: "It shall be unlawful to any person to be guilty of disorderly conduct or of any conduct tending toward a breach of the peace. The causing or making of any unnecessary loud noise and shouting or yelling shall be considered disorderly conduct."

Chicago's comprehensive ordinance is the model for the one trustees adopted. Among the things now banned in Arlington Heights: are:

". . . any improper noise, riot, disturbance, breach of the peace or diversion tending (to the latter) . . . crowds for unlawful purposes . . . annoyance or disturbance of other persons . . . idle (ness) and beging . . . juggling or other unlawful games or plays . . . lodging in sheds, barns, stables or unoccupied buildings or lodging in the open air and not giving a good account of themselves . . ."

The citizens also cannot legally "wilfully assault another . . . or be engaged in, aid, or abet in any fight, quarrel or disturbance . . . or stand, loiter or stroll about in any place in the village waiting or seeking to obtain money or other valuable things from others by trick or fraud . . ."

LOCAL POLICE will also keep a watchful eye out for "all touts, ropers, steerers or cappers, so called, for any gambling room or house . . . and all persons who shall have or carry any pistol, knife, dirk, knuckles, slungshot . . . and all persons who are known to be narcotic addicts, thieves, burglars, pickpockets, robbers or confidence men, either by their own confession or otherwise . . ."

There's much more than that in the ordinance, which carries a fine of $1 to $200 for each conviction.

But you will be able to lounge in, prowl about or loiter around any steamboat landing within the village limits, however.

That one was deleted from the Chicago ordinance.

Arlington Youth Killed in Crash

An Arlington Heights youth was killed and 2 other persons injured in a 2-car crash at E. River rd. and rte. 58 Sunday night.

Dead was James B. Edwards, 21, who roomed at 1224 E. Foundry rd. A 1956 graduate of Arlington high school, he had been employed since May at an Algonquin plant manufacturing concrete piers.

EDWARDS WAS A passenger in an auto driven by William B. Blauw, 9326 Greenwood, Des Plaines. More than 100 stitches were required to close cuts in Blauw's scalp and he was to be X-rayed Monday for a possible broken neck.

County sheriff's police said the Blauw car, eastward bound on rte. 58, was struck by another car and hurled against a utility pole. Edwards was thrown underneath the auto, which was wrapped around the pole.

Driver of the northbound auto was Marilyn Newton, 5204 Bernice, Chicago. Police said she had stopped for Golf rd. traffic and started up again, apparently not seeing the other car approaching from the left. She received only a bruised leg.

THE OWNER of the second car, Paul Arena, 512 S. George, Mt. Prospect, was riding in the back seat, according to police, and was not injured.

Edwards' landlady said the youth had moved to Florida with his mother about a year ago and returned alone last May. The family had formerly lived in Prospect Meadows.

An inquest was scheduled in Des Plaines Tuesday.

Board Authorizes Fire Dept. Study

Five major phases of activity of the Arlington Heights fire department will be studied next month by a fire prevention expert.

Trustees last week approved the hiring of James E. Collins, former head of the Chicago fire prevention bureau, for the study. He is expected to complete the inquiry in about 1 month and a salary of $650 a month was approved by the board.

Collins will spend 4 or 5 days a month checking on the results of the study for 6 months after its completion.

Village Manager F. R. Buechner outlined the scope of Collins' investigation. He said it will cover:

Possible partial intergration of duties of police and firemen, development of a 56-hour weekly work schedule for firemen, starting January 1, formulation of a fire prevention program, including hydrant inspection;

Development of in-service training for firemen, and, finally, installation of a complete system of records for fire fighting and inspection activities.

BUECHNER SAID the aim of the investigation is to enable the village to improve its fire insurance rating. The Cook County Inspection bureau several years ago demoted the village from a fifth class rating to sixth class. This had the effect of raising fire insurance rates and a return to fifth-class would have the reverse effect.

Collins retired last year after 8 years as head of Chicago's bureau.

A Holiday Gift from Trustees

A Christmas gift from the citizens of Arlington Heights to the Northwest Community hospital won't be wrapped in fancy paper and tied with a ribbon.

The gift is a valuable one, however, and as tangible as a silver dollar in annexing the 27-acre hospital site and adjoining church property last week, village trustees agreed to waive about $9,300 in fees.

The sum represents an outright grant to the hospital center for payment of annexation fees by the property stipulated by ordinance. A small portion of the amount covers a connecting water pipe. The village will install a larger one than usual for the size of the tract annexed.

Bulbs Stolen

Hundreds of bulbs were stolen from outdoor Christmas displays over the weekend, reported Arlington Heights police.

There were 16 reports of theft of from 10 to 100 bulbs in the 3-day period from Thursday through Saturday.

'Normal' Week Is His Goal

"Getting back to a normal work week will be fine with me."

That sums up the reaction of Harold P. Dobbins to the news that the plant he operates single-handed will go out of business in 4 or 5 months.

DOBBINS HAS run Arlington Heights sewage treatment plant all by himself since last May. Three men had worked there before that.

"I've averaged 10 hours a day 7 days a week," he said.

When the Metropolitan Sanitary district of Greater Chicago begins to treat local sewage, the Arlington Heights plant will close down. Completion of a main to carry sewage to the district's Skokie plant is expected sometime next spring.

DOBBINS, A veteran village employee, has been offered another job in the public works department. He said this week he expects to take it.

Holiday Reunions Highlight Christmas for Arlington Hts.

All roads lead home at Christmastime and scores of Arlington Heights families have been either taking that road or watching for the arrival of loved ones. One of the happiest holiday reunions began early last week when Mrs. Arthur Ekberg greeted her brother, A 1/c William Lane, for the first time in 2 years. Mrs. Ekberg's parents, the senior William Lanes, her sister, Carol, and another brother, Thomas, arrived here Tuesday from Pittsburgh with Airman Lane who very recently completed a 2-year tour of duty in Japan. The Ekbergs and Lanes plan a truly merry Christmas together at the Ekberg home, 2108 N. Chestnut rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd L. Hill arrived here Sunday from Columbus, Ohio, to be with their son-in-law and daughter, the Peter B. Eriksens, for the holidays.

Also welcoming the folks Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clark Jr., 608 S. Walnut, who are looking forward to the holiday with Mrs. Clark's parents, the C. E. Bobenmyers who drove here from Peoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schmidt, 724 S. Chestnut, are enjoying the Christmas week visit of Mr. Schmidt's brother, Harvey and New Orleans Sunday.

With Mistletoe and Holly

The arrival of students home for the holidays from distant campuses began last week and reached a climax this weekend as collegians flocked home by plane, train, car and bus. Friday, Mrs. E. J. Dresmal greeted her son, Jim, as he arrived by plane from Arizona State college in Tempe. His sister, Arlene, home from Monmouth college, was on hand, too, with a big hello to mark his first time home since September.

Another Arizona State collegian also home for the first time, is Jack Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer, who arrived Sunday.

Sunday also brought the Harold Kutchera family together again as Sheila arrived from Boulder, Colo. where she attends the University of Colorado.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Walter Edelblute welcomed their daughter, Carol, as she arrived from the University of Idaho in Moscow Sunday to join the family for the holiday vacation.

Richard Fox is home for the holidays with the folks at 408 W. Campbell until his return January 5 to Rolla, Mo. where he attends the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy.

Jerry Clement, arriving by train from Iowa State college at Ames, finally made it home to 922 N. Yale Friday afternoon, albeit several hours late due to the heavy holiday traffic.

Another Friday arrival was Curt Rogers from Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, to enjoy the holiday doings with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Rogers, 312 N. Dwyer.

Dashing Thru the Snow

Eugene Freeman, son of the Martin Freemans, almost literally "blew in" Friday from Carthage college in the southern part of the state to spend the holidays at home. He reported extremely high winds prevailed in Carthage last week but it was fortunately out of the tornado path.

Miss Charlene Rehfeldt came home a week ago Friday from the state college at Bowling Green, Ohio and was on hand this weekend to welcome her brother, Chuck, as he arrived from the Northwest Military and Naval academy at Lake Geneva.

Other Northwest academy cadets home Friday from Lake Geneva were Fred Walters Jr., son of the senior Fred Walters, 415 E. St. James and Bruce Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Stewart Richmond, 731 S. Burton.

Home for Christmas from army duty and nurse's training are the R. J. Muldoon children, Robert and Kathleen. Robert, with the army in Washington, D. C., came home Saturday to spend a week here and Kathleen arrived Monday from Cincinnati where she is in training at the Good Samaritan hospital.

On the First Noel

The delightful custom of carolling has brought the true Christmas spirit to several homes in the area in recent days. Last Monday night Maria Villars and 16 of her 7 to 9-year-old friends gave joy to many and had a joyous time in return as they sang for the nuns at Our Lady of the Wayside convent, then made a musical stop at each of the girl's homes. The evening ended with a Christmas party and refreshments at the Villars home at 416 W. Fairview.

The Barrett Rogers, 312 N. Dwyer, hosted a group of Oak Park and local friends at a Christmas carol party Sunday evening. It was the traditional get-together for the couples whose custom it is to mark the evening of carolling and reading the Christmas story after sharing a yule bowl and buffet supper.

The Walter Edelblutes and 40 of their church friends with their families enjoyed a potluck supper and social evening at the Edelblute home Sunday evening.

Christmas Greetings

So, off to the country went the baby. For a while they made regular weekly visits. They seemed to worship him. Gifts of all sorts were given him. Time went on. The baby grew, and the man and woman found it more difficult to visit him as often as once a week. Soon, it was only on holidays such as Easter and Christmas when they took time to see their growing son. As he grew bigger they hardly recognized him. He seemed wise beyond his years, and he had some definite ideas that they could not accept. Finally, they decided that once a year, on his birthday, they would try to recapture the joyous mood of his birth. It was easier to fix up the guest room . . . get out baby clothes, sing songs, than it was to have him in their home daily, the year around. He would upset their lives too much.

To their friends, who often wondered about this strange custom of decorating a baby bed and singing songs, they would explain:

"We could have brought him to live with us, but it doesn't seem like the thing to do. He has grown so, and has such peculiar ideas. He thinks that the 'body is the temple of the Holy Spirit,' and should be kept pure, and, we entertain a lot and can't change our way of living for him. Then, too, he has such peculiar friends. Some of them are not of our race, and we can't have them visiting in our community. And, worst of all, he thinks people don't need to be concerned about making more money. He even suggests that we give some to help those foreigners! . . . he calls them brothers . . . We thought of bringing him to live with us, but it would mean too much change. It is easier to celebrate his birthday without him here."

Of course, this is just fiction . . . or is it?

"He came to His own, and His own received Him not, but to all who received Him, who believed in His name, He gave power to become children of God." John 1:11-12.

There is a happy side to this story. Those who accept the Christ of Christmas, and keep Him with them all the year, will have a living, growing fellowship with God. You can find Him. If you are willing to make the sacrifice of adjusting your life to His.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

AT this joyous season, we take great pleasure in thanking you for your loyal patronage and in wishing you and your family a very Merry Christmas!

Auditors Are Hired for 4 Year Period

The auditing firm of Ernst and Ernst will check over Arlington Heights municipal accounts for the next 4 years.

Trustees last week agreed to hire the firm for that period. The 4-year plan carries a ceiling price of $2,500 per year, considered a favorable price by trustees.

Ernst and Ernst several months ago completed the audit of the 1956-57 fiscal year at a total cost of $2,338.15. The cost is expected to be less for the current fiscal year because of unusual amount of "spade work" done by the firm last year, according to Village Manager F. R. Buechner.

Pupil Bitten By Guinea Pig

Even guinea pigs have to have something to cut their teeth on. 9-year-old David Sielken of Arlington Heights has learned.

The fourth grader at Dryden school had a finger bitten Friday by a classroom guinea pig that was "just teething," the boy told his mother.

How Cook County's Unique Government Got That Way

by JACK MARTIN

Imagine a town meeting form of government running the city of Chicago. Or how about a board of township supervisors with only 3 of the 27 representing the "Windy City?"

Cook county at one time operated under each of these forms of government. In fact, today's administrative scheme is but a combination of these 2 and has had only minor changes since its adoption in 1871.

ILLINOIS' 102 counties include 17 which operate with a commission of government, 84 township varieties, and Cook county with its hybrid setup. A glimpse at the history books reveals the reasoning which has dictated today's Cook county government.

Prior to the time this county was incorporated January 15, 1831, the area was a part of Putnam county. However, since Putnam county was in its infancy, the affairs of the Indian-infested portion that later was to become Cook county were being administered during the 1820's by the elected officials of Peoria county.

A population of about 60 people established a commission form of government for the newly created county in 1831. The board of commissioners plan complied with the state constitution of 1818, which provided that all counties be run by a board of 3 commissioners, a plan which was popular with the migrants from Kentucky, Tennessee, and other southern states.

AS THE SOURCE of population switched from the south to the New England states, there was a popular cry for a township form of government. Consequently the state constitution was amended in 1848 to allow the "blue-bellied Yankees" local government by popular election.

In 1850, by which time Cook county had taken advantage of this constitutional revision, the former Indian haven had created within itself some 27 townships, including 3 from the young city of Chicago. It elected a supervisor for each township, such supervisor automatically becoming a member of the county board of supervisors.

In 1850 Cook county had a population of 43,000, of whom 29,000 lived in Chicago. But by 1870, the county's population had increased to 349,000, of which 298,000 resided in the city. Obviously the "town meeting" form of government had become too tight a belt for the territory's mid-section.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of another constitutional revision of 1870, Cook county in 1871 did away with its strict township form of government, substituting a new form that embodied certain features of both the township and commission forms.

The new government retained in name the townships and permitted those in the county outside of Chicago to elect a complete set of officers, but drastically curtailed their powers.

The major alteration was the supplanting of Cook county's board of supervisors with a board of commissioners numbering 15, 10 of whose residences were to be within the city of Chicago, and 5 from the remainder of the county.

TODAY'S commissioners, whether their principal constituants live in the loop or in undeveloped areas, actually represent all of Cook county's residence since, no matter where a commissioner lives, he is really a commissioner at large for all of the county. (B8

Christmas will be a little happier in an Arlington Heights household with 2 seriously ill parents.

Strangers, friends and neighbors have made it so with donations of more than $1,600 to help the family meet its load of bills and by making sure the 4 children have presents galore.

Scout Exec Transfers To Hawaii

Randolph P. Falvey, district executive of the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout council is transferring to the Aloha council with headquarters in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Falvey and his wife, Marge, leave January 1 for Los Angeles where they will board the airline for flight to Honolulu. Congratulations and best wishes of the Scouters in the Signal Hill district, which includes Palatine, Lake Zurich, Barrington, Rolling Meadows, and Hoffmann Estates, go with the Falveys.

DURUING THE 3½ years Falvey worked in the northwest suburban area, he has seen the Signal Hill district grow substantially under his leadership. He has served as co-ordinator for the training committee and the Order of the Arrow, honorary camp fraternity.

Falvey will serve as district executive in Honolulu, and his district includes the Waik[illegible] area. (B3

Sanitary District Woos Seniors into Engineering

(CNS)—High school seniors going into the engineering field are being wooed again by the Metropolitan Sanitary district of Greater Chicago with its "pay and work as you learn" program.

For those who qualify, the district underwrites the first semester's tuition at Illinois Institute of Technology. Jobs at the district pay students more than enough to cover tuition for 4 years of college.

"THIS IS A terrific opportunity for high school graduates," beams Francis T. Delaney, district trustee and enthusiastic pitchman for the engineer-trainee program.

"With us, the student presents no financial drag on his family and when he finishes he'll know how to get dirty on the job and have a lot of experience under his belt—experience that'll enable him to demand a higher salary for he'll be more useful to his next boss.

THE DISTRICT also guarantees its sponsored students a job upon graduation.

"These boys still have the God given right to go where they please when they graduate, but, of course, we hope they stay with us," says Delaney. "By the time they graduate, they'll know what this engineering work is all about, not just from books but also from doing the actual work.

Here's how the program works after a student is accepted by both the district and IIT. Summer jobs in the engineering field with the sanitary district at $300 a month are given the student.

DURING THE SCHOOL year, the student may also be sent by the college to work with the district, either on the drawing boards or on the scene with its professional engineers in the construction tunnels, treatment plants, and any place district engineers are found.

How much time other than summer vacation a student spends with the district is governed by IIT.

"It all depends on what they feel the student needs as to when and how long he's with us during the school year," Delaney explains.

THE STUDENT ALSO is paid $300 a month for this work.

At no time is the student burning the candle at both ends.

When he's in class at IIT, he is not working at the district and vice versa. Under the program, the engineering student will work with the district anywhere from six to 12 months other than summer periods, which means he'll graduate in 4½ to 5 years instead of the usual four.

This isn't a handout program for any engineering student stopping by, however, as evidenced by the fact that of 120 applicants since the program started in 1956, only 15 now are in college training.

THE DISTRICT rejected 37 on application while IIT turned down 61 either after interviews or entrance tests. Of 22 accepted, six flunked out in 1956 and only one failed in 1957, leaving 15 students still in the program.

Two are in their junior year, nine are sohpomores, and four freshman. Not all are in the same field of engineering. Eight are students in mechnical engineering, five civil, one electrical and one structural.

Technical training in high school isn't necessary for acceptance, although it doesn't hurt to have it, says Delaney.

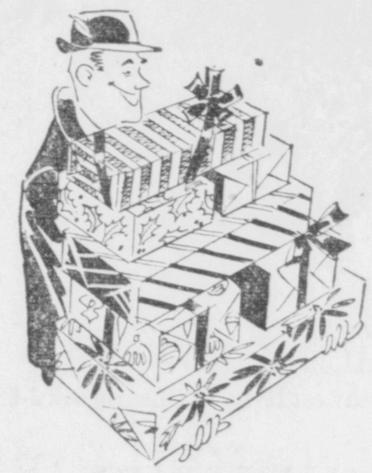

Details for application are available from John J. Hogan, superintendent of employment at district headquarters, 100 E. Erie, Chicago. (B-8

TWO ARLINGTON HIGH school students will fly to Orlando, Fla., Friday to participate in the Smith-Walbridge baton twirling clinic, perform during half-time of the Tangerine Bowl football game New Years Day, and present individual acts during an evening show. Nancy Kay Anderson, sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Anderson of 1105 Mayfair rd., Arlington Heights. Judy Schmoyer, junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Schmoyer, 445 S. Pine, Arlington Heights. Both belong to the Cardettes, twirling and pom pom corps at the high school, and teach the corps at Prospect high school. They have also attended twirling and majorette camps at Syracuse, Indiana, and Interlochen, Michigan.

Chicago engineering firm, proceed they are awaiting an opinion from Champman and Cutler, Chicago law firm.

THE LAWYERS must decide if the DAMP water commission is constituted correctly under state statutes in order to receive money from the state for making such a survey.

Once this is approved, the DAMP water commission then can have Consoer Townsend explore 4 possibilities of acquiring water. They are going to Lake Michigan for it, hook up with Chicago either with their own water lines or those supplied by Chicago, or purchase it from the west suburbs who are going to Lake Michigan.

If, after the survey is made and the cost found too high, DAMP can then call the matter closed and will not be required to refund or repay any money to the state.

IF AFTER THE survey, the water commission proceeds along one of the lines suggested and funds are raised through bond issues, then the money would be repaid to the state.

Present at Wednesday's meeting where the commissioner's progress was explained were E. G. Carlisle, village president of Arlington Heights; Theodore A. Lams, Mt. Prospect village president; C. O. Schlaver, Mt. Prospect village trustee; Robert J. Eppley, Palatine village manager; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vavra of Mt. Prospect, interested citizens.

Committee members Earl R. Warnicke, public works commissioner for Des Plaines, represented that city. Other committee members present were Chairman Robert J. Angley of Palatine; William T. Mott of Mt. Prospect and Max G. Mayer of Arlington Heights. (B8

Christmas Tree Magic Is Rooted in 300 Year Custom

by TOM BRENNAN

Bring the candles, light the tree,
There's something Christmas does to me
ALFRED GRANT WALTON

Aglow with lights, tinsel and gay baubles, the Christmas tree radiates warmth and magic. Its branches conceal enticing mounds of presents. Its delightful aroma tickles the nostrils and its symmetrical beauty tells of natures' bounty.

The decorated evergreen wasn't alway so firmly implanted as America's symbol of Christmas.

Some 3 centuries ago, when the use of a tree in the home began, probably in the Rhineland, a few pastors saw in it a danger. One theologian preached against the usage repeatedly. He claimed the tree, with its glitter and glamour, would divert the thoughts of people from the true meaning of Christmas.

From its native Germany the custom spread across the continent and reached England in 1841. The tree was introduced to America in the same year, say historians.

The honor of having brought it across the Atlantic seems to belong to one August Imgart. He set up a spruce tree, bedecked with colored paper and lighted candles, in the parlor of his home in Wooster, Ohio, much as he had done in his German homeland.

FROM WOOSTER the idea quickly leaped to other Midwest cities. By the middle of the century it had become nationwide.

So much a part of the seasonal observance was it by 1891 that President Benjamin Harrison spoke of it as an "old-fashioned" practice.

Before this high-level endorsement, however, controversy similar to that of centuries previous had raged about the angel-topped tree.

IN 1851 the Rev. Henry C. Schwan, recently arrived from Germany, set up a tree in his church in Cleveland, Ohio. The young minister only wanted to please his new congregation. What happened is related by a contemporary journalist:

"Mr. Schwan, like Mr. Imgart, recalled the Christmas tree of Germany and . . . arranged for a Christmas celebration in his church. Christmas tree decorated with gilt, tinsel, candles, apples and candies was part of the celebration.

"The feeling about this ran high in the community among other denominations. It was styled idolatrous and sacrilegious and it was prophesied that it would bring down the wrath of God. Members of the church were even boycotted for a time in their business, their accusers claiming that they groveled before a hemlock tree with lighted candles and cheap pictures."

PRECISELY HOW and when the lovely custom originated is unknown. Legends dating back to medieval times are all highly fanciful but they do give an idea of its great age.

Typical of the legends is a Bavarian one about why the pine was thought worthy of being decorated. It received this honor, legend has it, because the branches of a pine tree hid Joseph, Mary and Jesus from the soldiers of Herod.

The beginnings of the Christmas tree may be lost in a dark corner of history. But there is nothing mysterious about the joy in a child's expression as he stands under the tree Christmas morning. (B8

DAMP Awaits Legal Opinion

The DAMP watercommission is waiting for an opinion from a Chicago law firm before starting their engineers on finding the best and most feasable way of bringing water into the northwest suburbs.

Members of the commission told leaders from Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Palatine and Des Plaines Wednesday, Dec. 18, that before they have Consoer Townsend and associates.

Route 53 Detour Is Motorist Headache

SIGNS ARE HARD TO READ, but almost impossible when knocked over and encrusted in mud. This particular sign is supposed to tell the motorist "Repair Zone Ahead."

JUNK TIRES make pulling off the Meacham rd. detour almost impossible. At this point motorists, who are aware of the road's condition, inch over the patched and buckled detour. Through cars that are not aware slam into the holes with jarring results.

by BOB BUCHANAN

A "detour's detour" is causing many a motorist headache on Illinois highway 53, to say nothing of the severe jolts to their vehicles and the possibility of an accident.

The headache is the Meacham rd. toll road detour between Golf and Algonquin rds. Since Rohlwing rd. has been closed to traffic due to the construction of a toll road cloverleaf interchange, all Illinois 53 traffic has been rerouted over Meacham rd.

THIS MEANS THAT the route is traversed by heavy semi-trucks and toll road earth movers as well as many passenger vehicles. Traffic has greatly swelled, carrying both local and interstate traffic.

Accident possibilities abound because of a half-mile detour around a toll road overpass. The pavement is temporary, creating many huge holes as a result of constant beating by the huge trucks. Also the pavement is narrower than usual, shoulders are soft and curves dangerously exaggerated.

To make matters worse no lighting exists and danger signs are either missing, torn down or so encrusted in mud that they are unreadable.

MEACHAM RD. IS ordinarily a county road but due to the detour it is now a state road. According to contracts, it is up to the toll road contractor to keep the detours in condition through prodding of the state highway department.

The Meacham rd. detour in several places has been patched 6 or 7 times and torn up asphalt is piled 2 and 3 feet high along the road side. Other debris such as discarded tires makes pulling off onto the shoulders, which are poorly graded, almost an impossibility.

AS MOTORISTS drive past, they wish that girders overpassing the toll road would be installed so that they could once again use the regular roads.

They are especially hopeful that this will be a reality before wintery ice and snow cover the open prairie. However, most believe their wishes are in vain and that they will have to live with the nightmare until next summer. (B-8

WLS to Carry New Program

Commencing December 29, station WLS will be carrying a new program. At 6:45 p.m. Sundays, the station will broadcast "How Christian Science Heals."

On each program listeners will hear an actual example of healing through prayer as it is understood in Christian Science. Persons who experienced the healings will tell their own stories. They are not actors.

The December 29 program features a man from Iowa who describes his healing through spiritual means alone of a glandular condition which had been diagnosed as incurable. (B8

Mt. Prospect, Wheeling Collect Santa's Letters

by ROBERT FREVERT

Remember when you were a tot and you wrote a letter to Santa Claus (almost unfailingly spelled correctly) and let your imagination roam in pencil or crayola lines, cryptic symbols, or even sprawling handwriting, over the handiest scrap of paper?

Or did you beguile mom or dad into writing the letter for you?

MY, SUCH A MIGHTY big effort for such a little girl. Aglow with the secret knowledge of what it contains, Mary Louise Jenal, 2, of 408 Longquist, Mt. Prospect, drops her letter to Santa in the box provided for tots at the village post office.

There's a letter box just the right size for little folks at the Mt. Prospect post office. The Wheeling shopping center, Dundee rd. and Milwaukee ave., has a miniature mail box to collect letters to Santa.

Little girls perennially ask Santa for dolls, of course. And what a variety there must be! Mamma dolls, ballerina dolls, bride dolls, and more dolls.

And there seems to be no end to doll accessories for the pint-sized "mother." Nursing kits, strollers, doll furniture are ever popular.

AND IT SHOULD not come as a surprise that even at the tender age of 3, 4, or 5, the girls somehow mysteriously manage to be more voluble than the boys.

Trains never cease to capture the imagination of the small "engineer", and still appear with great frequency in letters to Santa from little boys.

Other ever favorite heroes, the "Fire Chief," or "Police Chief," may be symbolized in a desire for a miniature fire truck, or whistle and badge.

RECORD PLAYERS are becoming increasingly popular. There's lots of music around for the little folks, too.

From here we leave it to the parents to supply the rest of the list.

Some children make doubly sure their wants are not overlooked. They drop a letter listing their wishes and pay a visit to Santa to boot.

Thoughtful tots may ask Santa to bring something for a little brother or sister as well. And is there anything more expressive of the true spirit of Christmas?

THE REASONS children offer as indicative of good behavior haven't changed either. Going to bed 'on time,' 'eating 'good,' doing all the things mother or dad ask (right before Christmas anyhow), top the list.

Children seem never to give up hope of catching a glimpse of sooty old Santa as he stops to deliver his bounty. They may even attempt to entice him to linger by promising a surprise.

The volume of mail for Santa has increased every year during the 4 years the letter box for tots has been at the post office, informs Mt. Prospect Postmaster Joseph Knuth.

TOTS WHO VISIT the post office with that happy look of anticipation as they drop their letters to Santa receive a free sucker for their efforts. B8

Q. When rising from the table, should one push his chair back into place under the table?

A. In a home you leave the chair where it is. In a public dining room, it is usually the practice to push the chair back to the table where it will be out of the way.

Q. It is my understanding that a prospective bridegroom's family is supposed to call on the family of the bride-elect as soon as the engagement is announced. But what if the man's family lives in a distant city?

A. Then, of course, letters expressing mutual happiness over the forthcoming marriage should be exchanged.

Q. Are all plates removed from a dinner table before serving the dessert?

A. Yes, the table should be plateless. The salt cellars, pepper pots, unused flat silver, are taken off on the serving tray, and the crumbs brushed off each place at the table with a folded napkin onto a tray held under the table edge.

Q. Is it always correct to use two envelopes for enclosing wedding invitations?

A. This is the generally accepted form. The inner envelope contains the invitation and cards, and is addressed to the recipient without the address.

TV

Doesn't it get you mad sometimes to find that top TV programs are on at the same time?

You would think that the television networks could get together and do something about this. But there is a reason for it.

The answer is competition for the biggest audiences. After all, a sponsor wants the bigger audience for the most sales. And networks (although I don't think they will admit it) will play against each other's top programs to pull down audience ratings and move their own upward.

The trend today for a network is to get as many of the top 'ten' programs as possible. That is the reason for playing favorite against favorite. TV programming is keen competition.

And this is good for you and me. The results are better and better programs.

And in television servicing there is more and more competition being created, too. Only the best technicians with the latest equipment will stay on top. The next time you need TV servicing, phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and discover why LANDWEHR TV has received such a fine public rating.

What a Lark! Join the Christmas Bird Census

by CHARLES HAYES

Marjorie Kendall Crane, age 50, is organizing the first Christmas bird census in northwest suburbs since 1909.

The idea for her bird count was formulated after she ceived accurate information on winter bird population and learned that the National Aubudon Society has not redistribution in this area since the Friends of Fin and Feather club made its historic study a half century ago.

Although she has been unable to enlist any volunteers thus far, Miss Crane is still optimistic about the project. She assured us that with a congenial party and at least one seasoned ornithologist, it can make Christmas day a memorable one.

"You have no idea how refreshing it is to take a day out of the holiday hubbub and spend it outdoors quietly looking for birds," she exclaimed.

How do you plan to set up the project? we asked curiously.

"First you get a map of the northwest suburbs and draw on it a circle with a 15-mile diameter which includes various types of country. Then you set out early Christmas morning and throughout the day you see how many species of birds and how many individuals of each species you can find in your circle."

RAPIDLY FIGURING the geography of her prospectus, we estimated that census-takers will begin peering at dawn's early light in order to cover a countryside roughly bounded by the county line on the south, Barrington rd. on the west, route 22 in Lake county on the north, and Glenview naval air station on the east.

We asked Miss Crane how many birds she hoped to count.

"I don't know the largest count, but sometimes very large ones are obtained, for the 'Instructions for the Christmas Bird Count' says: 'When large estimates are involved, insertion of the word ABOUT will indicate the total number includes an estimate; e.g., total 62 species, about 255,557 individuals."

We allowed that her party would have to spend an entire day to cover so large an area and try to count a quarter of a million birds.

"A DAWN-TO-DUSK count of the birds in the area is preferred, anyway," replied Miss Crane. "One of less than 7 hours duration is frowned upon, though there is no objection if you stop for a cup of coffee."

We agreed that a cup of coffee might be welcome midway on the hike from DuPage county to Lake county.

"Of course, the bird count, like golf, is no fun unless you are absolutely honest about it," cautioned Miss Crane. "If you are not sure whether a small nondescript bird is an English sparrow or, as Angela Thirkell says, 'a Lesser Halfwit nesting 3 weeks before its usual time,' it is a shameful thing to write it down as an undoubted Halfwit. You must chase it over hill and dale till you are convinced it is one or the other."

WHAT PREREQUISITES are necessary for a good bird counter?

"Necessary virtues include keeping your good humor and treading warily. Practical jokes have been played on census parties, such as putting a stuffed specimen of a rare species along their path, or releasing a tame bird completely alien to the region to astound the learned hikers."

We shared Miss Crane's hope that no thoughtless suburbanite would purposely uncage a pet parakeet on Christmas Day.

AFFECTIONATELY known in northwest suburbs as a "patroness of projects," Miss Crane previously won acclaim for her unsuccessful tree-planting program in Rolling Meadows as well as her courageous efforts to save the condemned elk herd in Busse Woods forest preserve.

Although this is her first attempt to organize a Christmas bird count in northwest suburbs, it will not be her first census party. She joined a survey group at Mount Healthy, Ohio, some years ago.

"We chose the wrong day to make our census, however, for it was not only 28 degrees below zero but the wind was razor sharp; even the chickadees had hidden away. We saw only 5 species: ravens, pine grosbeaks, a Canada grouse I am sure of—I have forgotten the other 2."

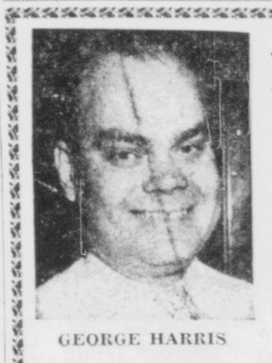

IN EXTENDING her invitation for the count to all area residents, Miss Crane declared:

"Even if you do not have time or inclination for these special census activities, the mere awareness of birds can be an added happiness at Christmas. This is especially true for those who are sad or lonely during this season. To them, an invaluable sense of companionship and friendliness can be brought by the herring gull, ring-necked pheasant, palm warbler, horned lark, or Carolina chickadee." (B8

HERE'S hoping that this happy holiday season rings in much joy for our friends and patrons, now and in all the years to come.

Woodcarving Display Show Significance of Nativity

by TOM BRENNAN

The penetrating religious significance of the Nativity is conveyed in a display of Christmas cribs now at the Arlington Heights public library.

The 7 items are on loan from the seminary of the Clerics of St. Viator in Arlington Heights and will remain at the library through January 1.

FOUR WERE handcarved by European craftsmen, 2 are of chinaware and 1 is a plaster cast. Only 2 or 3 pieces in the collection are of the usual sort of mass-produced goods found in the five-and-dime store.

With a single exception the works on display come from the bench of deft-fingered workmen. Only one group of 3 figures is self-consciously the work of an artist.

The artist is Patricia K. Watters of Chicago. To many who are used to a pink-cheeked Babe surrounded by garishly-costumed figures, Miss Watters' version of the event will seem barren of meaning.

SHE HAS STYLIZED her figures of Jesus, Mary and Joseph to eliminate facial features and details of dress. Unpainted white plaster figures of Mary and Joseph stand alone in mute adoration; the Infant stiffly extends His arms toward His mother.

The very absence of fleshy detail forces the viewer to the realization that these are not ordinary persons, that this was not an ordinary child.

At the other end of the artistic spectrum from Miss Watters' fine pieces is a ceramic item from Italy. A kneeling mother cradles her child in her lap with one arm while the other arm supports a veil (white on the inside, blue on the outside).

THE CHILD WEARS a shirt dotted with gold stars, facial expressions are saccharine, and the whole effect is as syrupy as Santa Claus. Better you should give someone an Elvis Presley Christmas record.

Of roughly the same artistic school is the other chinaware item. It is also from Italy and of unglazed china. With its pastel pinks, yellows and blues, this number has loads of pious daintiness. Perhaps the effect was more pleasing to persons who saw it nearer the date of its manufacture, 1887.

The wood carvings are of varying merit. The best is a scene of simple design done in low relief. The carver began with a section of a tree trunk about 8 inches in diameter, halved it lengthwise and cut away his design on one of the faces.

MORE AUSTERE in spirit is a carving which has sharply edged rays slanting down from a star onto the figures bent over the manger. It has some character but its strength is diluted by an elfin-like angel playing a flute.

The 2 remaining groups are traditional in style and execution.

Overall, it can be said the wood carvings show craftsmanship, the chinaware the effects of commercialism on our Christmas observance, and Miss Watter's plaster casts, an effort at re-interpretating the Birth of Christ for modern tastes. (B8

Correction

A photo caption in last week's editions of Paddock Publications incorrectly stated that Northwest Community Hospital center was presented a check from the Square Dance club of Arlington Heights. The check represented proceeds of a square dance jamboree sponsored by square dance clubs in northwest suburban area. (B-8

Giant Sewer Contract Awarded

A contract to lay an interceptor sewer along a 2.5 mile route between Rolling Meadows and Palatine has been awarded by the Metropolitan Sanitary District. The job, costing $1,449,980, was given to Santucci Construtcion co., Skokie.

The new sewer extension is part of a 6.7 mile long project recently off the district's drawing boards.

CONTRACT FOR the 4.2 mile section, costing $1,999,190, was awarded earlier this month also to the Santucci firm.

The 2 sections will extend the district's interceptor sewer system from the southwest edge of Mt. Prospect, along the southern end of Arlington Heights, through Rolling Meadows, and terminating at the Palatine sewage treatment works.

When both sections are completed, the Palatine plant will become obsolete because sewage will be shunted along the district's vast system of interceptors to its big treatment works in Stickney. (B8

Picture Patter

CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS often offer opportunities for strong pictures like this one which won a prize in the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards.

Camera Tips for "Sidewalk Superintendents"

by FRED GAREISS

Whenever you see a "Men Working" sign, plan to put your camera to work, too. Join the "sidewalk superintendents" to watch the ever-fascinating business of building.

There's always bound to be a lot of interesting activity going on around such signs, and your finished roll can turn up with some fine dramatic pictures. Men in overalls, a steam shovel and a mountain of rubble and dirt may not sound very exciting—but just wait and see. Good composition and a low camera angle can do wonders with this type of material. Choosing a low angle will give an impression of how small a man can be against huge machines and the universe in general. Yet, in effect, your picture will show that he directs these machines and even a part of the universe despite his small size.

Dramatic story-telling shots are waiting wherever men — or women, for that matter—are at work. Construction jobs are always naturals, but you'll find that other fields of activity can produce interesting "Men Working" shots, too.

Farm, factory, laboratory, work shop—just about any place of occupation you can name will inspire unusual action-filled pictures. Put your camera to work anywhere people work—and the results should more than justify your picture-taking efforts. In fact, you might even come up with some good entries for one of the national snapshot contests.

Ruling on School Tax Set Jan. 1

(CNS)—Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington has indicated his decision will be forthcoming by New Year's Eve or shortly after January 1 in the suit challenging the Park Ridge school "Tax" on builders.

The judge gave both sides 10 days to file briefs after hearing 4 hours of final arguments Thursday.

ARGUMENTS centered on 2 findings made by Albert M. Sheppard, master-in-chancery, on the constitutionality of the Park Ridge ordinance requiring subdividers to pay $300 into a school fund for each lot they build on.

After lengthy hearings, Sheppard recommended the ordinance be held invalid, contending the power to provide means to raise revenue for school purposes rests with the state legislature.

Sheppard also recommended that $110,000 now in the "school escrow fund" be returned to the builders who paid it.

HERBERT R. STOFFELS, one of the attorneys representing Park Ridge and consolidated school district 64, argued the $300 payment is neither a tax nor a fee. It is a constitutional means of aiding schools, overcrowded by new home developments, he said.

The ordinance was enacted in 1954. Six builders filed the suit against it in 1956. (B8

WE ARE GRATEFUL that you have given us the opportunity to serve you. Your friendship and patronage enable us to successfully carry on our work on the health team.

AND SO, AS ANOTHER YEAR draws to a close, we want to thank you for your part in making it a pleasant one and to sincerely wish you and yours—A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

It's Tournament Time on Sports Front

LODIEGARD REINKE, son of Mrs. Pantelija Maksimovich, 1109 West Wing street, Arlington Heights has been awarded his second varsity letter in soccer at Denison University, where he is a sophomore. The 155-pound sophomore played wing on the Big Red team, which won six and lost two in Ohio competition to take second place in the Ohio Soccer League this year.

Reinke scored 3 goals and had 6 assists for a total of nine points, second best on the Denison team this season. Coach Tris Coffin rates the stocky wingman as one of his best linemen. For his achievements in soccer this year, Reinke was named to the All-Ohio second team in soccer, which is selected by the soccer coaches of the state. He is a 1955 graduate of Arlington high school, where he won letters in cross-country, baseball, and track.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB PADDOCK

BOB ZUPPKE has left a wealth of football lore behind him since lettering on Wisconsin's Big 10 championship basketball team in 1905 (he was too small for football). Here are a few facts to jar your memory: athletic director at Muskegon, Michigan, and Oak Park high schools until 1913 when he became head football coach at Illinois. He remained in that capacity until 1941 as his teams won or tied for 4 national titles and 7 Big 10 championships.

Zuppke devised the famous "flea flicker," the screen pass, "flying trapeze" and the huddle, and pioneered spring practice. His all-time record at Illinois was 131-81-12, all-time Big 10 mark 76-66-8. Red Grange was probably his most famous star. Zuppke wrote numerous books and was an accomplished amateur artist, exhibiting paintings in numerous national and international shows.

SOCCER may be the next growing sport in high school . . . LaGrange has started a team which will compete in the fall . . . Varsity wrestlers for the Lions, by the way, start practice every day in the 6th period gym class and are finished about 4 p. m. . . . Wrestlers in most schools are working out until 6:00 . . . Gymnastics team has been formed at LaGrange with Bob Ehrhart and athletic director Chuck Bennett serving as coaches . . . Soccer letter winners at Navy Pier included Hans Bolli of R-B and John Ternes of Maine . . . Copping frosh numeral was Warren Gehrett of Maine.

In case you keep a social calendar, here are the 1961 football dates for Illinois: Northwestern, Ohio State, Minnesota, open, Purdue, Michigan, Wisconsin and Michigan State, starting with Oct. 7 . . . Same in '62, but places reversed.

Down at Macomb where the university president is under fire for alledgedly supporting athletics more than the books it has been brought out there are 72 courses in physical education against 42 in English and 15 in mathematics . . . Another vital fact: Harlem Globetrotters have won 5,822, lost 307, in 30 years . . . Officials did their work by watching closed TV of a Los Angeles State-California Poly game recently in a test . . . Officials felt it had possibilities with more light and a second camera . . . Chicago Relays will be held at International Amphitheater instead of the Stadium in March . . . Beating 49ers Sunday was no surprise to Lions fullback John Henry Johnson, who lives in Oakland, Calif., but took only 1 change of clothing when he flew to the west coast with the team . . . "We'll have to come back to play Cleveland for the title, anyway" said Johnson.

INDIANA university commands quite a bit of interest on our part this week, starting with Archie Dees and his phenomenal scoring for the Hoosier 5 . . . Interesting sidelights are the training trips through the southland during the holidays . . . Eleven boys from Hawaii who picked Indiana as the place to further their education are with the swim team at Silver Springs and Ft. Lauderdale . . . One Illinois boy, Jerry Wright of Carmi, is with the gymnasts at Sarasota . . . There are just 2 out-of-state boys on the Indiana cage squad, including soph forward Larry Crawford of Borton, Ill., who stands 6-7 . . . That name takes us back to Libertyville and the Northwest conference about 25 years ago.

We hope this publicity release prior to Illini cage loss to Iowa State is wrong . . . "Illini success or failure at Iowa State could be a tip-off on how the team will do in coming Big 10 campaign."

Bearing it out is this brief note from Arlington's Bob Frisk at Illinois . . . "Getting Terry Bethel is going to help next year, but things don't look too good for this winter" . . . Bob reminds us of this unusual fact . . . Illinois has 3 starters from the same town in Don Ohl, Mannie Jackson and Govonor Vaughn . . . University of Houston feels it has the best freshman cage team in the southwest in years, including 3 boys from Illinois and 1 from Indiana . . . All-state guard Gary Phillips of Quincy is included . . . Ron Baukol of the WSC sank 2 buckets for Iowa State in whipping Illinois Saturday night.

THERE'S A LOT of winter sports activity on the college front by boys of this area, including Ken Kramp of Hinsdale and Charles Lustfield of LaGrange with Illini wrestlers . . . Both boys are sophomores in their first year with the squad, and expected to compete at 137 and heavyweight, respectively . . . Of just 2 Illinois boys with Michigan State frosh cagers is Tony Etnyre of New Trier . . . There's just 1 Illinois boy with the Spartan varsity, Joe Reading of Crystal Lake . . . Joe's a senior who stands 6-5 and weighs 200 . . . He's expected to fill a reserve role, currently working a forward post with the third unit which handles opponents' offensive and defensive formations in workouts . . . Joe was on the squad last year but didn't see any action.

Lodiegard Reinke of Arlington, whom most of us remember for his cross country and track activities, has been playing soccer at Denison U., was recently given honorable mention on the league's all-star team . . . Denison finished second in the league.

On the basketball team for Lawrence is Jack Letham of Hinsdale, senior forward letterman . . . It's old home week for the WSC at Cornell, Iowa, where 5 boys from Maine and LaGrange are on the winter sports squads . . . Among 6 Illinois boys at the Iowa school is Rich Merz of LaGrange, 6-foot soph guard . . . On frosh wrestling team is 157-pound Mike Ferguson of LaGrange, 1 of the WSC league champs of a year ago . . . Who else but Maine would have 3 swimmers at 1 school . . . They're sophomores Gary Smith in 50-yard free style and 200-yard back stroke; Terry Smith in 200-yard back stroke; and freshman Henry Schmidt.

Heights to Meet Tough Foes Waukegan Wrestling

Arlington's varsity wrestlers will compete in the Waukegan holiday tournament Friday and Saturday of this week hoping to improve on last year's last place finish. Meet will be held Friday evening, Dec. 27, at 8:00 for the first round, Saturday afternoon at 2:00 for the semifinals, and Saturday night at 8:00 for the finals.

Competing against Arlington will be Evanston, Leyden, Maine, Niles, Proviso, Thornton Fractional and Waukegan. Admission for the tournament will be 50c for students and $1.00 for adults for each session.

Other starters listed are Ed Schumacher at 138, Dave Ebert at 145, Dick Leckband at 154, Roger Farleigh at 165, Craig Rose at 175 and Frank Woodruff at heavyweight.

HEIGHTS GRAPPLERS have had a hot-and-cold start in non-conference competition, with a variety of causes holding some boys out in many matches. Whipping Leyden last week Tuesday was good news, though, with a couple of boys in the lineup for the first time, and indicated the team has started "to jell."

The Cardinals will open conference competition Jan. 11 against LaGrange, last year's WSC champs. Coach Mudge hopes his boys will benefit from the experience of the Waukegan tournament with more victories in league play.

PROVISO WON the tournament a year ago, then graduated 10 boys. Two will be back for the tournament, James Thomas and Bernard Temmler, competing at 95 and 133 a year ago. Coach Jack Marino has a large squad of juniors at Proviso this time, and is expected to make a strong bid along with Waukegan and Evanston, the latter 2 possibly favored for the 2 top spots.

Proviso dropped a 20-19 affair to Evanston Friday, and previously whipped strong Morton, 27-16, as well as Riverside-Brookfield. Coach Marino acknowledges he has 5 or 6 boys with good promise after they pick up added experience. Luck of the draw, though, in pitting just which boys against the best at each weight, could mean 4 or 5 schools closely bunched at the top.

WAUKEGAN was a weak second with Evanston taking third. Evanston will have 7 boys who finished in the first 4 back this time, with Waukegan having 6 veterans. They are scattered in all weights except 175.

Returning to the tournament from Arlington will be Jerry Bonn and Ralph Carlino. Two other Cardinals finished within the magic 4 within their weights last year but won't be available due to graduation and injury. Pat Harris was graduated from AHS last June while Dean Schneck won't be able to compete.

MAINE COULD easily replace Waukegan among the top squads in the tournament. Demons whipped Waukegan 23-16, taking 7 decisions to counteract Waukegan's lone pin and 3 decisions.

Losers were behind just 1 point going into the final 2 matches, but both 175-pounder Jack Arbo and heavyweight Bert Gardner won for Maine to cinch the meet.

AWARDS AT THE tournament will include first and second place trophies, plus individual medals for first 4 place finishes in each weight division. Pairings of boys in the various weights will depend on blind draw immediately after weigh-in between 4-6 p.m. Friday night.

Arlington will draw first, with its number indicating opponents according to pre-arranged schedule. Two mats will be used throughout the tournament until the finals when just 1 mat will be used. Tournament places will count 10-7-4-2 with additional point given for each victory. Doors will open a half hour ahead of time.

A RUNDOWN on boys expected to be back in action and the weights at which they wrestled Jan. 4 and 5, 1957, are:

95—James Thomas of Proviso, Bill Cromer of Evanston and Alex Phillips of Waukegan.

103—Jerry Bonn of Arlington and Bob Furlong of Evanston.

112—Mike Greimer of Evanston and Ralph Carlino of Arlington.

120—Ray Mueller of Waukegan and Glenn Kuehn of Niles.

127—Bob Evans of Waukegan.

133—Bob Sheppard of Evanston, Bernard Temmler of Proviso and Wayne Gibour of Waukegan.

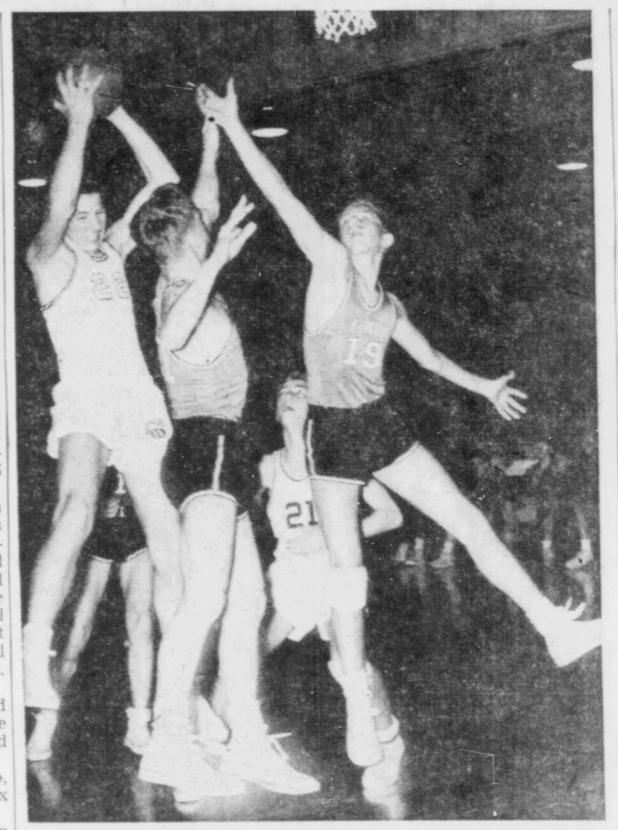

138—Jim Ashmore of Evanston.

145—Pat Kelly of Waukegan and Ron Chez of Niles.

PROSPECT FRESHMAN Dick Palmer comes down with rebound against St. Charles Saturday morning. Contest saw locals win 60-30 and successfully initiate their new gymnasium. Prospect's George Tuttle (20) looks on as Anderson (19) and Janunas (21) offer opposition.

Holiday Cage Tourney Here This Weekend

Arlington's Cardinals will play the roles of hosts and defending champions this Friday and Saturday night when the second annual Hardwood Holiday tournament is staged in Arlington's gym.

Niles of Skokie, Leyden of Franklin Park, and Wheaton will furnish the opposition, with those 3 trying to take the championship away from Arlington, where it has been since the Cards walked off with last year's honors.

The tourney is a blind draw affair with team captains drawing for opposition at 6:45 before the first game Friday night, scheduled to get underway at 7:15. The second game will begin 20 minutes after the first game's completion.

Saturday night the losers will meet in the first contest with the championship battle following.

THE LOCALS may be favorites to repeat last year's performance although stiff opposition is expected from Leyden, which sports a starting 5 whose heights are 6-4, 6-2, 6-1, 5-11, and 5-11.

Wheaton is small but fast and recently whipped a weak West Chicago team. Niles has 4 of last year's starting 5 back, including high scoring guard Jerry Kiedel. It was the Skokians who battled the Cards to a 50-47 decision in last year's championship game.

THE CARDS, after getting off to a good start, have dropped 3 WSC games in a row. Coach Frank Bohac is far from discouraged, however. He points out the whole conference is tough this year and believes the locals will be tougher after the holidays.

Bohac hopes his boys can come through in the holiday tournament and gain confidence that will make them more troublesome when the second round of league play begins.

EXTRA INCENTIVE may come from the fact that it was Niles who dropped last year's Redbirds out of the Glenbrook regional. Leyden then whipped Niles in the regional finale.

Members of the winning team not only get the Hardwood Holiday trophy but also individual awards of gold basketballs. (Sp

Prospect Frosh 'A' Team Wins Again

Playing the first game in Prospect high school's new gymnasium, the freshman "A" squad initiated the hardwood with a 60-30 romp over St. Charles. It was the fifth straight win for the frosh, who also hold victories over Maine, Palatine, Reavis, and North Chicago.

Fred Empkie and Fred Lussow were top men in an evenly distributed scoring column with 13 points apiece.

THE PROSPECTORS jumped off to a 19-4 lead in the first quarter and their superiority was never questioned. 12 players saw action in the contest.

By halftime the frosh had a 37-12 advantage. The score at the three-quarter mark was 49-19.

Individual scoring for Prospect was as follows: Empkie, 13; Lussow, 13; Tuttle, 10; Palmer, 9; Grams, 4; Cordes, 4; Hermes, 3; Klement, 2; and Clabaugh, 2.

Card Frosh Wrestlers Lose

Leyden's freshman wrestling team outpointed Arlington's yearling matmen 33-23 at Franklin Park Saturday.

Strength at the heavier weights allowed the Eagles to surmount an early lead built up by Arlington lighter grapplers.

Arlington won 3 matches by pins, one by forfeit, and one by decision. Leyden took the other 7 matches, 6 of which were by pins and one by decision.

INDIVIDUAL matches went as follows:

Frosh-Soph Tourney At Mooseheart Gym

Title favorite Marmion military academy of Aurora, defending tournament champion Batavia, and a darkhorse, Geneva, are rated as the teams to beat in the annual Mooseheart frosh-soph holiday basketball tournament.

The tournament will be held December 26, 27, 28 and 30 in the Mooseheart high school gymnasium. Two contests will be played daily.

Marmion will square off against West Chicago on Friday, Dec. 27, at 1 o'clock while Mooseheart faces Serena in the final game of the day at 2:30 p.m.

The semi-finals will be held Saturday morning, Dec. 28, starting at 9 o'clock, with the championship game Monday afternoon, Dec. 30, at 2:30 p.m. Third place game will get underway at 1 o'clock. (Sp

350 Keglers to Vie For Paddock Honors

The 7:45 and 3:15 shifts will fill up first. That was evident as official entries for Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap men's bowling tournament rolled in this week with the 7:45 shift both Saturday and Sunday the most in demand.

Deadline for entries in the men's tournament Jan. 11 and 12 at Bensenville Bowl is this Saturday, Dec. 28. Team captains and league secretaries are urged to make time reservations by phone just as soon as possible to insure requested squads. There were just 4 spots open on the 7:45 shift both days as of Saturday morning.

Local leagues bowling at other establishments may be eligible to compete providing certification of local status is made with tournament manager Bob Paddock at publication office first.

Team captains and league secretaries can learn just what shifts are still open by calling tournament secretary Betty Schoepke at CLearbrook 3-1520 as soon as possible. Thirty-five teams had already made time reservations as of Saturday morning. A list of most of these early birds is published in an adjoining column.

Fenton Cage Tourney

Trying to pick a winner or even a favorite for the second annual Fenton holiday basketball tournament will be a mighty tough assignment this year if comparative scores are used as the criteria.

Three of the 4 teams involved, Fenton, Glenbrook and Lake Park have already played each other this year with confusing results.

Glenbrook won a 3 point decision over Lake Park at Medinah. Fenton beat Glenbrook by 11 at Fenton and then dropped a 5 pointer to Lake Park, also at home.

The other tourney team, Elmwood Park has also been up and down so far with 3 wins and 2 losses.

All this adds up to some exciting basketball and a terrifically interesting tournament.

First round games will be played Thursday night with consolation and championship tilts scheduled for Friday night.

Fenton Sophs In Tourney, Too

Coach Bill Jonkhee's Fenton frosh-soph basketball squad will participate in the Elmwood Park holiday tournament for sophomore teams Saturday, Dec. 28, and Monday, Dec. 30.

Fenton athletic director Frank Novatny announced that 5 teams in addition to the Bisons will vie for the championship.

iFrst round pairings include Fenton vs. Elmwood Park and North Chicago vs. Riverside-Brookfield while Lake Park and Glenbrook advance to the second round automatically as the result of byes.

The championship game will be played December 30.

The Bisons have won only one in 6 starts this season but will be strengthened for the tourney by the return of Ron Panos, sidelined with a broken hand. (Sp

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

HAD A LETTER from "Gene" Moylan, former Palatine high basketball coach, who has been at Winnemucca, Nevada the past two years. Moyland is now head football and track coach and officiates basketball games. He had 5 boys on the first all conference team in a league which includes most of the big schools of the state. One lad, a real tough 155 pound fullback, in addition to making all state in football was also state champion roper and bulldogger. His family likes the dry mountain climate and the community is very enthusiastic about sports activities.

RAY COLLIER

We asked Ray Collier, coach of Grant's 1956-57 Northwest champs, for his reaction to the effect of the new rules on the game of basketball. He feels that the widening of the free throw lane to 12 feet and enforcement of the 3 second rule in that area requires that teams have more agile and active men in the front line and that better screening and timing is necessary for successfully freeing men for close inside shots. Most teams are playing their post or pivot men to the sides and many just outside the free throw line. Collier thinks there will be more faking and driving back to the basket by outside fast men. We recall seeing Bob Armstead of North Chicago do this most effectively in the Palatine game recently.

Quoting Collier: "In scouting this year I have noticed the continued trend toward zone defenses. Of course the 12 foot free throw area has lured many coaches into a zone who previously expressed a dislike for it. I maintain that a zone is primarily used to cover up individual weaknesses. Sooner or later you find yourself behind in a ball game and must move out on your opponent. Why throw your team off balance, particularly psychologically, when this same objective could have been accomplished by means of a sagging or switching defense. I also feel that a team cannot call themselves a good team unless they have a couple of good outside shooters to balance their driving offensive game." (Collier graduated his first 8 boys last year from a champ team but still has his new team tied for the Northwest lead with a 3-0 record when this column was written.)

AS THE NEW Tri-County Conference closed competition for the Christmas holidays it was very evident that no member of the loop could compete successfully with the high powered and rangy North Chicago Warhawks. With wins of 77-56, 64-46, and 65-40 over Elmwood Park, Palatine, and Glenbrook, North Chicago has shown real class. The rest of the league is even enough in strength so that any team might beat any other on any given night. To date Fenton had given evidence of being the second best team.

Up to the holidays the Palatine Pirates have shown the least of any of the six. The Pirates have a 2-6 record and have scored 50 points or more just twice, the 2 games they won from Wauconda and Grayslake outside the league.

Palatine's lack of scoring at center and one forward spot, and inconsistent work at one guard position has hurt their early season play. Only Dick Wisner has been outstanding as a scorer though Pete John, a junior in his first year of varsity ball, has scored in an acceptable manner at a forward postiion. At Fenton last Friday 32 of Palatine's 43 points were tallied by the guards.

BOB ARMSTEAD of North Chicago tops the league scoring by a narrow margin with 51 points in 3 games. On his heels are Bernie Sell of Fenton with 49 and Chuck Christensen of Lake Park and Doug Timmerman of Glenbrook tied with 47. Only the top 2 have a better game average than Dick Wisner with 36 in 2 games. Jim Krauser and Bob Plache of Elmwood Park, playing in only 2 games, have 35 and 34 for averages of 17.5 and 17 points respectively.

Elmwood Park's sophs roll on with a 2-0 league record and 6-0 for the season following an 8-0 football record. North Chicago, Glenbrook, and Palatine are far from out of the race, however, in the soph division.

WRESTLING is one of the fastest growing high school sports. In 1955 about 1,970 schools sponsored the sport but in 1956-57 there were approximately 3,000, according to reports of the national federation of high school athletic associations. The reason is not television, though this may have helped. The important factor is that the sport is adapted to boys of all weights and sizes. It is a good conditioner for all sports, is a real muscle builder, is a comparatively safe sport, and can be conducted without great expense. That spectator interest can be developed is proved by the fact that in a few areas it outdraws basketball.

Several states are being forced to expand their series of state eliminations due to the great increase in the number of schools participating. Wisconsin and Illinois are states where the interest is growing the greatest. In Wisconsin 4 sectional meets were held 2 years ago. The number was doubled last year. This year district meets to qualify for the 8 sectionals will be necessary. In Illinois district qualifying meets will also be started this year. In each event 4 district qualifiers will advance to the sectional and from the sectional the 2 finalists at each weight will advance to the state meet. Palatine is the site of one of the sectionals.

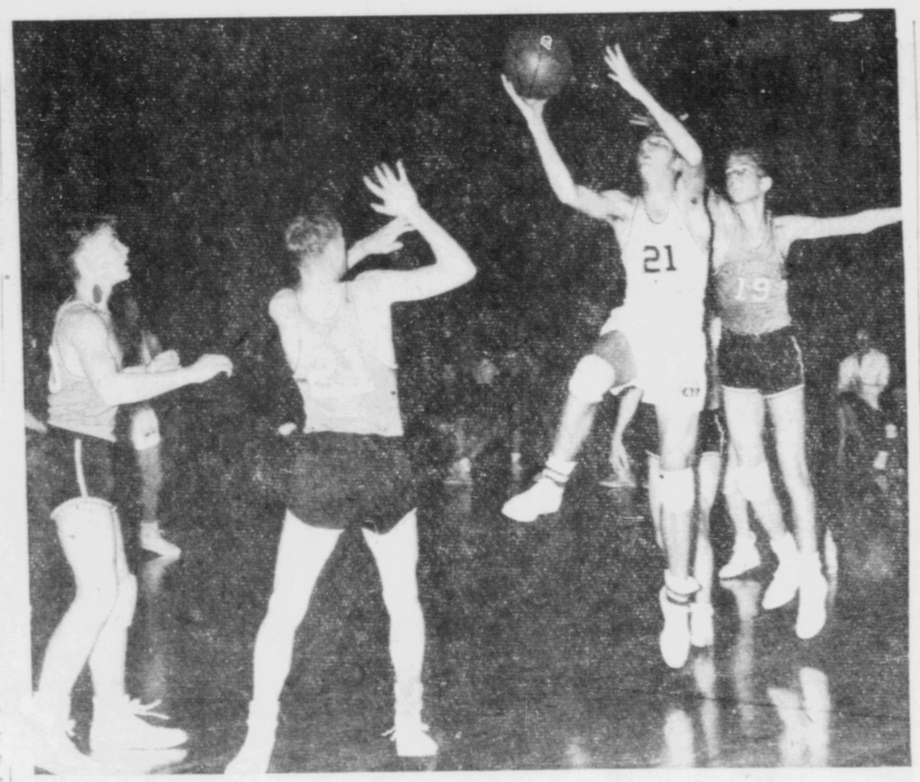

THE LARGEST HOLIDAY basketball tournament in this area is at Grant where an 8 team affair is scheduled for Thursday thru Monday, December 26-30. The first round pairings are McHenry vs. Antioch and Notre Dame vs. Warren on Thursday with Lake Forest vs. Wauconda and Woodstock vs. Grant on Friday. Three of the strongest teams are in the upper bracket, in our opinion, including McHenry, Antioch, and Warren. Grant has a real break with no strong opposition in the lower bracket though tournaments are notorious for upsets.

Tri-County conference has finally completed its league constitution. One interesting item is an effort to regulate who may play in JV games. After each varsity game of football the coach shall name his 15 best boys who may not play JV ball until after the next varsity game and the same holds true in basketball for the best 7. The 15 or the 7 must be the boys who played the most in the varsity game and if fewer than that number were used the remaining boys shall be selected on the basis of time played the previous week. Pledged to see that this operates ethically and fairly are the athletic directors of each school.

10 YEARS AGO: Palatine won a nip and tuck 37-36 victory over Antioch as Fred Haemker tossed in 16 points. Pirate frosh-sophs dropped a 29-23 decision . . . At the holidays Bob Thollander of Bensenille boasted an 18.4 points a game average and the Bensenville Bisons and Barrington Bronchos were tied for the Northwest lead with 5-1 records. Northbrook was third with 4-2 while Palatine and Grant tied for fourth with 3-3 . . . In the frosh-soph division Ela-Vernon and Antioch rated 5-1, Barrington and Bensenville 4-2 and Palatine 3-3 . . . In a holiday tournament coming up at Palatine, M. M. Rose and Paul Sokody were to officiate with the entries and won and lost records: Arlington 3-2, Bensenville 5-1, Leyden 3-1, and Palatine 5-4.

20 YEARS AGO: Bensenville nipped Arlington Heights 30-25 for their first victory. L. Baumgartner scored 11, Leverenz 7, and Mathews 6. Mayerck had 16 for Arlington. Cardinals won the lightweight game from Bensenville 16-13 . . . Palatine whipped Wauconda 35-16 and 31-16 in a double bill as Cliff Haemker got 15 points and "Bud" Nangle 8. It was 2 games in a row that Pirate lights had held opponents scoreless from the field in the second half.

At the holidays Ela-Vernon and Niles claimed 4-0 records and Palatine and Leyden 3-1. In the lightweight division Palatine and Leyden led with 4-0 and Ela-Veron had 3-1 in a conference of 13 schools.

TUTTLE DRIVES in for a basket for Prospect high school's freshman "A" squad. George Tuttle scored 10 points in his team's 60-30 victory over St. Charles Saturday morning. St. Charles defenders include Anderson (19), Janunas (21), and Bell (20).

Arlington 3rd, Proviso Wins Invitational Gymnastics Meet

Arlington's gymnasts finished third as Proviso of Maywood captured the second annual Northern Illinois Invitational Gymnastic tournament held at Arlington high school Friday.

Proviso scored 108 points to top all competition. New Trier of Winnetka edged the Cardinals for second place, 94.5 to 92.5. York was fourth with 81 points.

In all, some 13 schools were represented in the tournament, with entries coming from towns as distant as Moline and Carmi.

GARY MORELAND captured Arlington's only first when he won the tumbling event and earned 11 points for his team. He also placed third in the trampoline for an individual contribution of 19 points for the day.

The Cards' Wilson placed 4th in the "all-around" event, finished 10th on the side horse, tied for third and fourth on the horizontal bar, and won fourth place on the horizontal bars for a total individual tally of 22 and a half points.

BRUCE ROBB was fifth in the "all-around," tied for third and fourth on the horizontal bar, and tied for fifth, sixth, and seventh in the rings event to garner 18 and a half points for Coach Gay Hughes' gymnasts.

Practically a one man team was New Trier's Hadley, who won 5 firsts and 2 seconds to account for 73 of his team's points. Overall strength, however, belonged to the winning Proviso crew, which placed 3 gymnasts in practically every event.

A RUN-DOWN of the individual events is as follows: (Sp

JV Cagers Win Again

Arlington high school's unbeaten JV basketeers captured their 4th victory Saturday as they edged St. Charles 43-39.

The winners had to fight off a fourth period rally by the visitors, who had trailed 35-25 going into the final quarter.

DAVE VARNADO was top scorer for the winners with 12 points on 6 field goals. It was his 3 buckets in the second quarter which helped the Cards extend a 10-9 first quarter lead into a 26-17 halftime advantage.

St. Charles' fourth quarter comeback was helped by the fact that Arlington missed 5 out of 5 free throws after sinking 7 out of 8 in the first 3 quarters.

INDIVIDUAL scoring for the winners was as follows: Varnado, 12; Soenksen, 8; Tierney, 7; Butterfield, 4; Raupp, 4; Warnecke, 2; Barbour, 2; and Double, 2.

Heights Frosh-Sophs Rally to Edge Maine

Arlington's frosh-soph basketeers eked out another victory Friday night with a 55-53 comeback against Maine. Arlington's George Bork and Maine's George Verber had a brilliant individual scoring battle, scoring 28 and 34 points respectively.

With Verber hitting 16 out of 22 shots the young Demons led until the beginning of the fourth period. The young Cards took a long time to warm up and fell behind 19-7. Verber hit 13 in the first 8 minutes' play.

AN ALL COURT press in the second quarter threw the leaders off as Ken Schaller's courtmen scored 10 points and narrowed the halftime tally to 30-26.

With 3:48 left in the third frame George Bork hit a jump shot to tie the score at 34-34. The score was deadlocked again at 36-36 but Maine regained their advantage by the quarter's end, 44-39.

The Cards' Gene Dahlquist started things in the final stanza with a basket and a free throw. Bork's layup tied the score at 44-44, with a little less than 6 minutes left to play.

MIKE DUNDY hit a jump shot and Bork added a set shot to give Arlington its first lead, 48-44. With 4 minutes left the locals owned a 52-47 advantage. Three baskets by Verber made the score 54-53 as the game ended. Dahlquist sank a free throw awarded after the horn and Arlington had its 4 straight WSC victory and their seventh in 8 starts this season.

Again George Bork's free throw accuracy was a telling factor. The sophomore guard netted 10 out of 13 to go with 9 field goals.

Maine hit only 3 out of 15 from the charity line and consequently were not able to supplement theiri 25 field goals. (Sp

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Wanted — Yes or No?

The Christmas season brings with it the usual problem that seems to take place every year when a family considers a new puppy for the household.

Many conversations which have been overheard by your editor recently seem to revolve around the topic of which member of the family, usually mother or dad, wants to have a dog around, and which does not. It is a foregone conclusion that the youngsters are all in favor of the new addition. To understand both sides of the picture one must consider every aspect which enters into the grownups thoughts regarding such a matter.

Some people do not care to become involved in the extra work that it takes to have the new pup around. Others may just not care for dogs or perhaps they have had some experience in their lives which has left a rather cool outlook on the idea.

Regardless, your editor feels that if the problem ever reaches the point where one member of the family is dead set against the idea of owning a dog then perhaps it would be best not to have one until the issue can perhaps be decided with a little more understanding by both sides. It is not the human element that he is thinking about, but the new pup who might end up by being the subject for many things such as neglect and just being shoved aside in general. Remember — there are 364 more days in the year.

If you have brought a new puppy into the house for Christmas, then, good luck and prepare yourself for a lot of fun which in the long run will offset the initial work involved. You cannot buy the loyalty that the pup will give at any price.

Laika

This column has long evaded any remarks about Laika, the little Russian space dog, for the simple reason that it is a matter for which each person has to decide for himself as to the merits of that famous space traveler.

Ever since prehistoric times, when they crept into a cave together to escape the elements, man and dog have been friends. It has been an association filled with acts of canine courage, loyalty and devotion, as well as fun and companionship. Dogs have altered the course of history, assisted in great discoveries, figured in prose and poetry and now have soared into outer space as precursors to man's attempts to conquer the universe.

The dog's contributions to man's well-being are legion. He has guarded man's home and loved ones, provided "second sight" to the blind, dragged man and his equipment to the Poles, stood sentry duty in war, pointed game, tracked criminals, found lost persons and bolstered man's sagging morale in times of crisis. Such is a dog.

Barks & Bays

At the close of each column your editor usually ends up with something which he often considers a rather interesting news note or factual item. With this column he would like to end it by thanking all of his readers for their comments and suggestions this past year and to wish each and every one of you, both young and old, a happy holiday season.

Cards' Slow-Down Tactics Fail to Stop Maine in Loss

Arlington's slow-down tactics failed Friday night as Maine's Blue Demons handed the Cards their third straight WSC defeat, 36-28 at Des Plaines.

Employing a deliberate style of attack Coach Frank Bohac's boys made a serious bid in the third quarter but succumbed to the rangy Demons in the final period.

After moving to a 8-2 lead in the initial stanza the locals fell behind 11-10 at the end of the period. Arlington's second platoon took over in the second quarter, employing an all-court press.

THE PRESS held Maine to 10 points in the second quarter but the Cards could garner only 4. At halftime the Red and White trailed 21-14, a good football score.

Bruce Bjorklund, whose 9 points were high for the losers, led the Cards in a third period drive which brought them within 2 points of Maine with 50 seconds to play, 25-23. However, the Demons' Jack McKee dropped a jump shot giving the underworld characters a 27-23 advantage at the end of the quarter.

BASKETS by Bob Gruber and Howie Cluever gave Maine a 31-23 lead as the final frame got underway. That 8 points proved to be the margin of defeat.

The Card's slow style backfired when, with a little more than 4 minutes remaining to play, the Blue Demons went into a stall. With a little over a minute remaining in the contest the winners had an insurmountable 35-24 margin in their favor.

TWO FINAL minute buckets by the Cards' Roger Creamer narrowed the scores to their final resting place, 36-28.

Arlington could not penetrate the Maine defense and had to depend practically entirely on out-shooting. They moved the ball around, but too many times they played catch until they lost possession, without getting a shot away. (Sp

Hebron Champs, Now 4 Years Older, In Benefit Game

Paul Judson, Phil Judson, and Bill Schuldt, Big Ten cagemen of last year and members of the famed, "Little Giants" of Hebron, will play North Chicago alumni Monday evening, December 30, at 8:30. Other members of the squad, and equally as important to the state championship team of 1952, will be Don Wilbrandt and Ken Spooner, as well as Jim Judson, cousin of the twins. The team will be coached by player coach, "Howie" Judson.

Boosters club of North Chicago high school will sponsor this game in order to raise funds for a public address system for the football field. Each year the club has raised funds for worthwhile gifts to the high school.

Opposing the Hebron cinderella team of tournament play will be a team made up of graduates from the last 3 classes of the No. Chicago high school.

The Christmas holiday game will mark the first appearance of the complete squad which so electrified basketball fans in the state by their march to the state championship in 1952. A real interesting game is in store for those who turn out for this game. A preliminary game will start at 7:30. Admission $1.00. (Sp

Illinois Cagers On TV Saturday

Coach Harry Combes' small-but-speedy Illinois basketball team goes on display before a regional television audience Saturday (Dec. 28) when it takes on Miami of Ohio in the only afternoon game of the season in Huff gym.

As usual, Illini will be up against taller opposition. Key man for the Miami Redskins is center Wayne Embry, agile 6-7, 235-pound senior who virtually rewrote the school's scoring records a year ago.

Embry's rebounding assistants are Jim Thomas, 6-3 junior, and Eddie Wingard, 6-6 junior.

The Redskins, in their second season under new coach Dick Shrider, have developed well after losing first game to Purdue, 79-66. They bounced back with a 70-64 win over Bowling Green, a Mid-American conference contender, then beat Dayton, a powerful independent, 63-59. (Sp

Michigan State Cagers on the Road

A western trip with stops in Iowa, California and Washington is scheduled for Michigan State's basketball squad during the coming holiday period.

First up on the slate was a game at Ames, Ia., with Iowa State Monday, Dec. 23. Next will come contests at Los Angeles against So. California on Dec. 27, and against UCLA on Dec. 28. And finally there's a game with Washington at Seattle on Dec. 30.

Following these 4 non-conference clashes, the Spartans will be ready to set sail into their Big Ten schedule with the opener at Ohio State Jan. 4. (Sp

Modern Etiquette

Q. What is the proper behavior when our national anthem is played?

A. When the flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face the music. When the flag is displayed, all stand and face the flag. Those in uniform salute at the first note and retain this position until the last note. We all show the same respect to the anthems of our allies.

Bureau Warns Suburban Mothers of Photog Fraud

"Can I get the $10 special introductory photograph for only $1.95 without buying a dozen other photographs" is the question often asked the Chicago Better Business Bureau by housewives who have bought a photo coupon.

The answer is "Sometimes, if you wait long enough and can resist high pressure selling techniques."

ACCORDING TO Aubra B. Johnston of the Chicago Better Business Bureau, hundreds of complaints have been registered against firms which won't give this special photograph unless a large order is placed for additional photographs.

These "photo coupons" are sold by "passers" who work neighborhoods door-to-door. The price varies from $1.95 to $2.95, plus $1.00 for each extra person in the picture.

This selling technique, by means of coercion, is well known to the Chicago Better Business Bureau. Complainants often say they are made to feel cheap when they insist on getting the special photograph without buying additional ones, and then they are often made to wait months for it.

THE "BEAUTIFUL Baby Contest" is another well known device. It is usually worked by telephone. The proud mother of a beautiful baby is told "Your baby has been selected to enter the Beautiful Baby Contest — we'd like to send a photographer over to take a few poses and maybe you'll get a free photograph out of it."

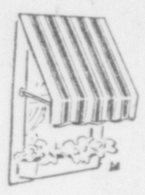

In some instances contests have been held and prizes awarded. However, many complaints come to the Bureau regularly from mothers who did not get their "free" photograph when they declined to place a substantial order.

Other complainants stated they were told their baby's photograph would appear in local daily papers. When such photographs did not appear, complainants phoned the newspaper and were told no arrangement existed with the particular photographer. (BB

Plan Your 1958 Christmas Now

Most suburbanites will think it's kind of early to start talking about Christmas 1958 when they're still caught in the middle of this year's Yuletide whirl.

But suburban bank experts say the ideal time to start saving for Christmas is 12 months ahead.

Then, you won't make too big a dent in your family finances when December rolls around.

TO FIGURE OUT how much to put away each week, decide how much you'll want to spend on next year's Christmas using this year's cost as your yardstick.

Deduct from this amount anything you'll have coming in the way of a Christmas bonus from the office and divide by the number of weeks until you'll want to start your shopping. Then, at the date you set, you'll have your entire Christmas fund.

MANY PEOPLE LIKE to deposit their Christmas money in a special-purpose savings account at their local bank where they aren't tempted to dig into it during the year. Northwest area banks provide Christmas Savings clubs which run in 50 week cycles for just this very purpose. Last year, saw the largest pay off in the history of these clubs.

Speaking of Christmas, you won't find any "white beards" on your banker. But he is probably the nearest thing to Santa Claus you can find today when it comes to helping you with your personal finances! (BB

Firm Tells $17 Million Loans

Oak Park Federal Savings loaned more than $17 million to 2,662 families this year to purchase and improve houses, John P. Dormier, president and chairman, said in a year-end statement released today.

The company now finances more than $216 million "for better living in better homes" mostly in the west suburban area.

THE 67-MILLION dollar firm was organized about 23 years ago, Dormier noted.

He estimated that some 3,000 families would be assisted financially in the amount of more than $20 million during 1958 "once builders and the general public realize the many advantages in living in the Chicago west suburban area." (BB

Lessons 'n English

Do not say, "Much work still remains to be done." "Still" is redundant, and should be omitted.

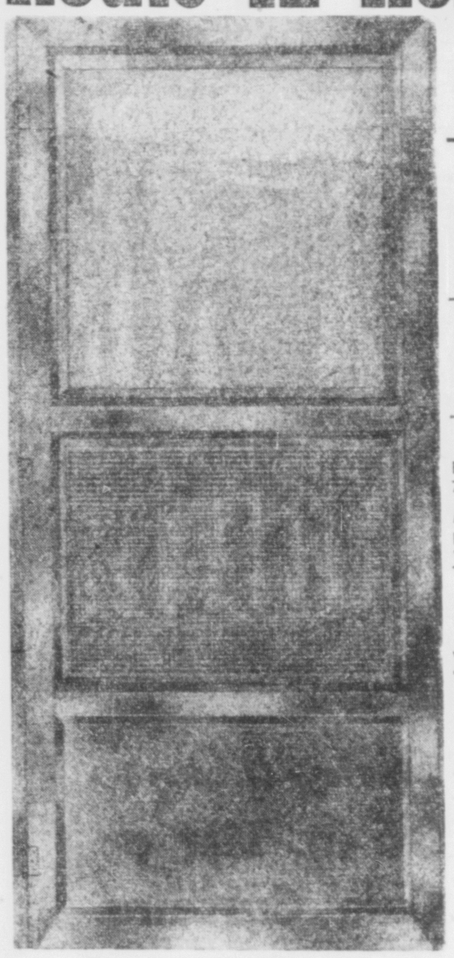

"Folk" is a collective noun and means "people or peoples," as, "The humble folk of the country." "Folks" is used for "people; kinsmen," as, "My folks at home."

Do not say, "I anticipated his actions beforehand." Omit "beforehand," since "anticipate" means to foresee.

Centex Chief Optimistic About Chicago Prospects

The residential building outlook for 1958 is better in the Chicago area than in any other part of the country, in the opinion of Tom Lively, president of Centex Construction Co., Inc.

His Dallas, Tex., company, a major home builder with projects in 8 states and Hawaii, is in process of erecting 6,000 houses in Elk Grove Village.

WHILE MOST predictions see a downward trend in all types of building, Lively states, "1958 will be a bigger year than 1957 for Centex, with about 94 million dollars worth of construction scheduled."

Approximately a third of this amount will be in single family private dwellings, while the remainder will be in military housing, apartments, and commercial or industrial structures, Lively said.

ELK GROVE Village will account for half of the company's 1958 individual private housing starts, and substantially more than half of the dollar volume in this type of construction, he added.

"With much of the land development work behind us, we will hit an annual pace of 1,000 homes in Elk Grove Village, representing about $20 million in new housing for the Chicago area in 1958," Lively stated. His firm expects to build 500 houses in its Dallas project developments, and another 500 near Honolulu, he revealed.

All of the projects in Chicago, Dallas and Hawaii were started in 1957 or earlier, and no new projects are contemplated for the coming year, Lively said. Shopping centers and industrial plants for buyers of property in the new Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove Village will be factors in the business increase his company anticipates, he said.

"While we will introduce new model houses in Elk Grove Village, we expect to stick to 3 or 4 bedroom ranch-types with one or 2 baths, which have proved so popular thus far. It looks now as if these will be in the $18,000 to $20,000 price range, for the most part.

EXTERIORS will present a different appearance, and we will offer changes in floor plans, along with a number of new luxury features," Lively disclosed.

A. J. Del Bianco and Associates are architects for Elk Grove Village.

"The Chicago area is the strongest market in the country for new homes, and we foresee this condition as continuing for a long period ahead. The pattern of industrial growth, the income level and living standards of families, and the progress now being shown in metropolitan area planning can point to no other conclusion," Lively said. The new office, opened recently by Allstate, provides 24 hour telephone service for Arlington Heights area policy holders. The office is located in the Van Duesen Building, 11 S. State rd., Arlington Heights.

The business growth of Allstate Insurance company in Arlington Heights area has resulted in the opening of an office, unique to Allstate, in the Van Deusen building, 11 S. State st., Arlington Heights, it was announced by S. J. Robinson, Chicago regional manager for the company.

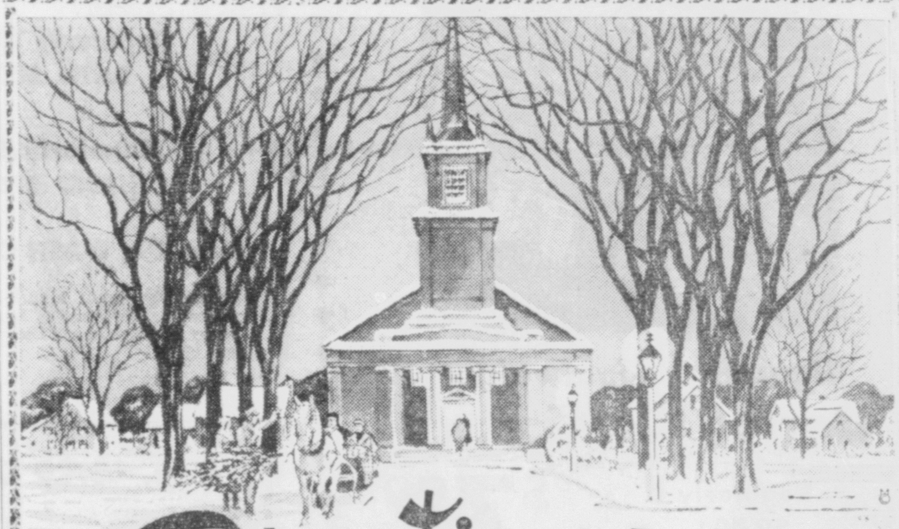

With the majority of its agency force operating out of sales booths in Sears stores or neighborhood insurance centers, in metropolitan areas, the growth in policyholders locally has made it necessary to establish this one man office to provide local service, according to Robinson.

Thomas Doetsch Takes Trudy Wagner as Bride

—Times Photo

Saturday, Nov. 23, in the 11 o'clock mass in St. Mary church, Buffalo Grove, Miss Gertrude Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner of Half Day, became the bride of Thomas Doetsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Doetsch of Buffalo Grove. The Rev. George Ballweber read the marriage vows before an altar banked with mums of various fall shades. John Covle sang the mass and "Bless This Day."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace and net over satin. She also wore a fingertip veil held in place with a crown trimmed in iridescent sequins, and carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis with an orchid in the center.

Her attendants were gowned in identical princess style dresses of shades of blue peau de soie satin with matching pearl embroidered bandeaux. Their bouquets were of yellow fuji mums and ivy. Miss Barbara Campbell of Half Day was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. William Wagner of W. Lake Forest, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Barbara Prochow of Skokie, cousin of the bridegroom.

Christine Sausser of Chicago, cousin of the bridegroom, and Kathy Wagner of W. Lake Forest, niece of the bride, were flower girls in pink and blue satin with flowered headbands and carried colonial bouquets.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Wagner chose an orchid lace and crepe dress with matching hat. Mrs. Doetsch wore a pink satin sheath with matching hat. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

Groomsmen were Matthew Doetsch Jr., brother of the bridegroom, William Wagner, brother of the bride, and Donald Prochow, cousin of the bridegroom.

A wedding breakfast was served at 1 p.m. and reception for 400 guests was given in the evening in St. Mary hall. After a wedding trip the couple is now at home on Aptakisic rd., Buffalo Grove. (Times Candid Photo

Quotoons

How much you say in a man's favor frequently depends on how little you can say against him.

The marriage ceremony is to marriage what buying a lot is to building a home.

The only way to get lasting pleasure out of inactivity is to put an end to it.

HAPPY GROUP of Cotillion club members are Mrs. William Trude, Mrs. Arthur Komarek, Mrs. John Sickel (back to camera) and William Trude. Buffet dinner preceded dance held December 14 at Itasca country club.

RED VELVET DRESS, in keeping with the holiday season, was chosen by Mrs. Paul Colianni, seated here with Norman Hawkey. Dance was preceded by numerous cocktail parties, one of which was hosted by the Coliannis.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Father, Check the Camera Lens!

I like pictures. Particularly pictures of me and mine and ours. Whenever we take a trip, the camera goes along around Father's neck. And, all of us happily pose in front of mountains, swimming pools, expanses of ocean and anything else we can find to pose in front of.

We almost never just take pictures of plain old scenery as I maintain at the top of my lungs that the post card people can do a much better job of that. Besides, what is so interesting to me as a picture of me? What is so interesting to the mob as a picture of the mob? Father is the lone dissenter as he keeps saying that he certainly has not gained that much weight and he will have the lens checked in the morning.

The girls are always perfectly willing to have their picture taken. The trouble comes when they are developed and finished. For some strange reason, their eyes fly swiftly to their own image and the shrieking begins. Cries of "Oh, how terrible" and "Look at my hair" ring out. They would have me throw them out.

I keep telling them if they want to look like Debbie Reynolds or Marilyn Monroe, go and be them. This hurts their little feelings so I suppose I am expected to disagree with them and tell them they are as beautiful as the sun in each snap. Well, they aren't. Our camera is a pretty good one, but no magic wand goes with it. It's mighty accurate.

What I fail to understand in the picture department is why I don't show up to better advantage? Goodness knows, I have never entered the Miss or Mrs. America contest, but it was just that I didn't have the time. For some reason, my long nose (aristocratic family characteristic, I call it) shows up to be just a wee bit longer than I thought it was.

Those wrinkles (certainly not a sign of age but of living life to the fullest) show up more or less looking as though I were putting on the years not too gracefully and quite speedily.

I think Father should really have the lens checked in the morning.

7th District Clubs Have New State Project

All clubs in the seventh district, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, are co-operating in a new state wide project aimed at helping Puerto Rican newcomers to help themselves. Mrs. Louis A. Imber, president and youth program chairman, explains that clubs throughout the state are being asked to contribute toward a fund which will be used to pay a part time community worker, a Puerto Rican, who will serve the newcomers as interpretor, friend and guide.

His work, which will be concentrated in an area located in the vicinity of Hull House, Chicago, will be devoted to the problems of the children and young people and will be focused on delinquency prevention. He is organizing a community committee of Puerto Ricans to assist him.

THE PROJECT, which is an expansion of the Youth Betterment program of the Illinois federation, will be directed by the state youth department chairman, Mrs. Elmer H. Sager, Chicago.

This project fulfills the 2 reasons for being federated, service to others and adult education, according to Mrs. Ervin J. Heckel, Downers Grove, state president. She points out the increasing responsibility of clubwomen to be aware of community problems around them and urges them to read about and study the Puerto Rican people, who are fellow citizens, and who live in ever increasing numbers in Illinois communities.

Favorites for Flavor

Warm Glow of Chafing Dish Adds Festive Holiday Touch

By LOIS SEILER

The warm glow radiating from a chafing dish on your sideboard will add a festive touch to holiday buffets.

The elegant shrimp recipe we are featuring today to serve from this chafing dish has been suggested by Mrs. Gus C. Holzrichter of Mt. Prospect.

Called Jambalaya Shrimp, Mrs. Holzrichter took this recipe from a cook book and changed it to suit her taste.

It is a delicious combination of fresh, cooked shrimp, oysters and tomato soup seasoned with chopped onion, green pepper, parsley, garlic, thyme and worcestershire sauce.

This recipe can be prepared days in advance, as the longer it stands the better it tastes, for the flavors become intermingled. Just re-heat it in your chafing dish and serve over rice.

Mrs. Holzrichter usually accompanies Jamablaya Shrimp with a tossed green salad and garlic-buttered French bread. For dessert she suggests rum ice or vanilla ice cream topped by a liquer.

This is an excellent dish to serve for a New Year's eve buffet. All the work can be done in advance; thus the hostess is able to relax and enjoy her guests.

The Holzrichters live at 1301 Lincoln in Mt. Prospect. They have 2 children, Ricky, 10 and Marsha, 8.

Mrs. Holzrichter is a member of the South Church Women's Guild.

Jambalaya Shrimp

1 tablespoon fat
1 onion, sliced or diced
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 clove garlic, crushed (optional)
½ green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 cans tomato soup
2 cups water
2 pounds fresh shrimp, cooked
1/3 can smoked oysters
6 cups cooked rice

Saute onion in fat. Add thyme, garlic, green pepper, parsley and Worcestershire sauce and cook three minutes.

Then stir in the tomato soup, water, shrimp and oysters and simmer for 10 minutes.

Serve over cooked rice.

Yield: 6 generous servings.

MERRY SANTAS, flanked by Christmas greens and colorful ornaments will decorate tables in the Main Ballroom of the Medinah country club December 28 when Arlington Heights Junior Womans club will hold its 19th annual "Holly Dance." Pictured with the dance chairman Mrs. William Eilbracht, right, members of the decorating committee, Mrs. Edward McEneely and Mrs. Kenneth Jacobsen display their handiwork. Guests will dance from 9:30 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. to the music of Joe Farwell and his orchestra. Purpose of the dance is to raise funds to support the club's local and Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs philanthropic and civic projects, some of which include the Northwest Suburban YMCA, public health nurse, and Little League. Tickets for the dance may be purchased from any member of the club, at the door, or by calling Mrs. William Eilbracht at Cl 3-7187.

—Times Photo

Selections sung by the soloist, George Palmer, were "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mr. Frye gave his daughter in marriage.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Audrey Z. Brasher of Palatine and bridesmaids were Phyllis Wittig and Judith Deddo of Palatine, and Karen Taylor of Long Grove. All wore emerald green empire gowns styled in ballerina length. Best man was William Thompson of Palatine and ushers were Donald Trieb, Ormel Prust and the bridegroom's brother, Jerry Lehmann, all of Palatine.

A buffet supper was held at Fireman's hall in Palatine for 350 guests where Mrs. Frye received in a pink nylon lace dress over silk and the bridegroom's mother in a dior blue satin dress. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Frye, also wore dior blue satin. All had corsages of pink carnations.

The couple honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel resort in Rockton and is now at home at 120 S. Rohlwing rd., Palatine.

The new Mrs. Lehmann was graduated from Palatine township high school and is employed by the air force at O'Hare field. The bridegroom was also graduated from Palatine high school and is now attending the University of Illinois. (Times Candid Photo

Jeanette Drewes Now Is Mrs. Joseph Dister

(Jenart Studio

St. James Catholic church in Arlington Heights was the scene of a 3 o'clock double ring service November 30 in which Miss Jeanette Drewes and Joseph E. Dister were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Drewes, 2231 N. Buffalo Grove rd., Arlington Heights, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Nelson, 106 E. McDonald rd., Prospect Heights.

Rev. A. J. Burke officiated at the service in a setting of palm leaves in a sunburst arrangement, white mums and gladioli. The bridegroom's uncle, Richard Clarke, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of slipper satin fashioned princess style with scoop neckline, long sleeves and embroidered with seed pearls and sequins which continued onto the cathedral train. She also wore a fingertip veil of french illusion with scalloped lace edge. The veil was held in place by a tiara of pearls and sequins. White orchids made up her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Marilyn Hermann of Arlington Heights was maid of honor. Her gown was of emerald green satin fashioned princess style with scoop neckline, short sleeves and sash back trim. Her bouquet was a cascade of white cymbidium orchids and feathered carnations. Identical gowns, also of the emerald green satin, were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Bernice Germer of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Blanche Schmidt of Riverdale and Miss Carol Campbell of Chicago, cousin of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Drewes chose a mauve pink satin sheath dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige peau de soie sheath dress trimmed with lace and an overskirt of chiffon with matching accessories. Her corsage was of brown cypripedium orchids.

Phillip Grimm of Evanston was best man and ushers were the bridegroom's fraternity brothers, Robert Burhop of Chicago and Dale Molander of Rockford, and the bride's brother, Donald Drewes.

A wedding dinner for the immediate family preceded the evening reception for 475 guests at Thorngate country club in Deerfield.

After a week's honeymoon, the couple is now residing in their new home at 1210 Highland dr., Prospect Heights.

Both Mr. Dister and his bride were graduated from Arlington high school. Mr. Dister was also graduated from Northwestern university where he was affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi, social fraternity and Beta Gamma Sigma honorary fraternity. He is currently employed by Continental Can Co. and is also attending Northwestern university graduate school. His bride is employed as a secretary at Mt. Prospect State bank.

Junior Women Play Santa To Unfortunates

Many otherwise forgotten people will have a merry Christmas due to efforts of several committees of the Arlington Heights Junior Womans club.

Fifty women at the Chicago state hospital in Dunning will receive gifts gathered by the American home and garden committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard H. Bischbelz, 902 N. Forrest, Arlington Heights. These gifts will take care of all of the women in one ward.

Door decorations will adorn the exterior of cottage doors at Park Ridge School for Girls. Decorations were made of boughs, bows, Santas and reindeer, then sprayed with artificial snow. Mrs. Thomas E. Smith, 1610 Olive, Arlington Heights and her Park Ridge School for Girls committee undertook the project.

Young boys at Lawrence Hall School for Boys will be remembered with a variety of toys, games and do-it-yourself kits. Lawrence hall committee is headed by Mrs. Robert A. Pfeiffer, 2 Lancaster, Mt. Prospect.

Four migrant families will be remembered through the work of the American citizenship committee. All members of the families, which include 21 children will receive gifts of toys and clothes. Mrs. D. Kieffer, 1232 N. Chicago, Arlington Heights, is chairman of the committee. (S

FOOT SAVING EDUCATION

by

J. H. Kotz

Why does my baby walk on her toes?

The almost universal tendency of babies to walk on their toes indicates that it is a normal thing.

The fact that doctors and physical education instructors recommend a similar exercise for strengthening weak arches tells us that the babies are strengthening their arches "doin' what comes naturally." Toe dancers have wonderful arches.

Very, very rarely a baby may have a shortened Tendon of Achilles or heel cord. These babies cannot get their heels down to the floor at all. It is a condition that should be seen by a doctor without wasting time trying suggestions of shoemen (like me) or omniscient neighbors.

Oversize License Card Explained

In answer to inquiries from motorists concerning the larger size of the motor vehicle registration card for 1958, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier this week pointed out that the card has been scored vertically so it can readily be folded.

Once folded, it will fit into a wallet, and if the extra area at the left of the card is trimmed off, it will also fit into the celluloid holders used for the old type registration card and the driver license, Carpentier said.

He also pointed out that the law does not require a motorist to carry the registration card with him.

USE OF THE new type form is saving taxpayers more than $60,000 a year, Secretary Carpentier said. It eliminated the necessity of making a fourth dexigraph copy of the application and the mailing of registration cards to persons who purchase their plates over the counter, he explained.

The saving in dexigraph paper, postage and envelopes offset by more than $60,000 the increased cost of the form, Secretary Carpentier said.

In addition, it provides over-the-counter purchasers with their registration cards immediately, where they formerly had to wait until the applications had gone through the dexigraph process and the cards were mailed to them, Carpentier said. (B12

It Takes Hearty Appetites For a Scandinavian Yule

by BOB BUCHANAN

Ever since the opening of the Christmas season Dec. 13 on St. Lucia's day, a Swedish holiday, Scandinavian homes have taken on a rare frangrance of delicious cookies coming out of ovens and the making of brunaboner or Swedish brown beans.

Creator of these delightful morsels in one Palatine home is Mrs. Ossian Oberg, who came to the United States from her native Sweden when she was 18.

FOR MANY YEARS she has been preparing smorgasbords consisting of lutfisk, 3 types of Swedish cookies, herring, bundost cheese, sulta head cheese, ham, brunaboner and rice pudding.

Tuesday night her husband, 2 daughters, their husbands and families, and two stepdaughters will gather around the table in the family home at 250 N. Quintens rd. as Mrs. Oberg serves the Christmas eve smorgasbord.

Christmas day the Obergs will have as their main meat traditional American turkey.

"I JUST LOVE to see this time of year come," Mrs. Oberg remarked with a smile. "It's a little extra work, but everyone loves the food. Then, too," she added, "my birthday's this week."

She went to and fro in her home as she made spritsringer, peppakaka, Swedish butter cookies, and fattigmands bakkelse. All are Swedish cookies. "You probably know that last one (fattigmands bakkelse) better as Poor Man's cookies.

As each batch of cookies came out of the oven, Mrs. Oberg gave them the crucial taste test, determining if they came up to the high Swedish pastry standards. According to an interviewing reporter's taste standards, they were.

AMERICAN FOOD production standards have made even a Swedish Christmas a great deal easier. "Now," Mrs. Oberg related, "we can go to the store and get a good many things. Take lutfisk for example. Up to 10 years ago we had to begin preparing the whitefish during the summer if we wanted to have lutfisk for Christmas."

Like so many people find, Scandinavian Christmases aren't enjoyed by them alone. Mrs. Oberg's son-in-law, Walter Graf, a native of Germany, proves that. As she remarked, "he eats lutfisk like the rest of us." (ES

Live Your Own Life Honestly

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Is your life so filled with the things that you should do, people you must know, that you never, or seldom, have time to do the things that you really want to do, or associate with the people you really like?

If this is the case, then it is time to stop and take stock. You don't have to go to a certain party just because you are invited. Nor do you have to read certain books, or go certain places just because other people are doing it. If you are a woman and a long skirt is more becoming to you than a short one, you don't have to wear a short one just because it is the style. Nor do you need feel badly because you do not like certain people who grate on your nerves. Be nice to them, but avoid them. Some people believe they are special, and entitled to be as ornery as they chose.

DOING THE THINGS you like and avoiding those which you dislike is a part of learning how to be happy. By arranging your time and your life so that you can enjoy what pleases you, you have little time for the things that displease you.

Of course we must have self discipline in our lives, and the things we do must have value to be satisfying. There are times, too, when we must do things that are not pleasing to us, simply because human decency demands that we should.

BUT YOU DON'T have to go all out to please other people. You don't have to see the movies they see, join the clubs they join, watch the television shows they watch, do what they want you to do just to please them. You don't have to yes their convictions at the expense of being traiter to your own. You don't have to "keep up with the Jones."

In short, while there are many things in life to which you must discipline yourself to conform, there are many others which are just custom, or are superficial that you need not to conform to. You don't have to be a copy cat, just be yourself in your own way, and people will respect you for it. If you have a good sense of values, you will find yourself with time on your hands to do things you never had time for before, but always wanted to do.

Five Arlington Seniors Scholarship Semi-Finalists

Bruce Bolas, Dennis Grant, Eldon Kreider, Marvin Meyer and Bill Roosen are the 5 Arlington high school seniors who have been named semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

The students are among the 7,500 high scorers on the Scholarship Qualifying Test, a nationwide college aptitude examination given in 14,000 high schools October 22, and represent one-half of one per cent of the national senior class, and each state is represented according to its high school population.

THE SEMI-FINALISTS outscored 300,000 fellow seniors, and thus moved a step closer to the $4 million in merit scholarships to be awarded in the 1958 program.

The students now face a rigorous 3-hour College Board examination, to be given in testing centers throughout the country on January 11. Students whose high scores, substantiate their earlier test performance will become finalists in the competition.

In the final phase of the competition, the high school grades, extra curricular attainments and the leadership and character of the competitors will be evaluated. About May 1, a fortunate 800 will become the Merit Scholars of 1958.

THE OTHER finalists will receive Certificates of Merit, attesting their high ability; and all colleges and universities will be notified, enabling these students to be considered for thousands of other awards and prizes.

The Merit Scholarship program is now in its third year. It was established in 1955 through grants. (ACM

What Awaits Children Under Christmas Tree?

by CHARLES HAYES

When suburban youngsters stampede the pile of gifts under the tree Christmas morning, they'll find a colorful array of new toys and games waiting for them.

A new, small-sized doll with manicured nails and high heel shoes will be the most popular gift for girls — and if they're lucky, there'll also be a complete wardrobe, trunk, and fuurniture all scaled to size.

This Christmas, boys will most likely rip away the tissue paper to discover new battery-operated toys, including a pom pom gun, electronic conveyor, auto dashboard, electrical workshop, or transistor radio set.

RIVALING DOLLS and battery toys for top priority is a new manually-operated hockey game which has all the pro players dressed in official uniforms. Now young fans can watch the Blackhawks and the Rangers on TV—and follow the play at home with their game.

Mrs. Blanche Weaver of the toy department at Hagenbring's, Campbell and Vail sts., Arlington Heights, estimates that the average family spends between $10 and $15 per child for Christmas toys.

"Grandmothers are a bit more generous, however," she laughed, "When children spot higher-priced toys, they immediately say, 'We'll tell grandma about that.'"

HAGENBRING'S toy inventory, which includes more than a thousand separate items, is reputedly the largest in northwest suburbs.

"Most youngsters study toy catalogues and newspaper ads to make their choices," explained Mrs. Weaver, who added, however, that TV had the greatest influence on youngsters.

"Unlike their parents, children automatically want anything that's advertised on TV," she continued. "For example, one toy item introduced two years ago was a flop; we practically had to give it away. But this year the firm is advertising the same item on TV—and none are available. Kids are howling for it, forcing parents to demand it—and it can't be bought anywhere."

A BIG PROBLEM in toy shopping, according to Mrs. Weaver, is the parent who insists on buying toys too advanced for the child's ability to appreciate it. As a result, many toys and games today are classified for age groups.

Her advice to parents: let children make their own choice of toys. "They know best what they want, and what they are capable of using."

AMONG UNUSUAL toys for older children:

—a fire set which includes a suburban pumper with 40-in. fire hose and hydrant that attaches to a garden hose, a 32-in. hydraulic aerial ladder truck which extends 36-in. high, a 12-in. rescue squad truck, a fire chief's car, and fire chief badge.

—a salvage boat that submerges and surfaces, breathes real bubbles;

—a battery-operated "college jalopy" with forward and reverse gears, steerability, spotlight, horn, and 4 seedy-seeming collegians in loud clothes and wearing insipid expressions on their faces;

—a switchboard complete with 2 phones; and —a battery-motor play drill with work bench and 6 play tools.

FOR AN INFANT who's just beginning to seek entertainment, a chenille-covered bar to be attached to a carriage or crib holds 3 plastic balls, 2 of which make a gentle rattling sound. The third contains a music box.

A child who is old enough to aim a mallet with any success should be charmed with a wood strength-testing machine that, when whacked good and hard in the right place, sends a ball shooting up a 10-in. shaft.

And a child between 3 and 5 would happily spend hours over a new set of colored wooden blocks, which, upon being joined together with dowels, turn out to look not unlike airplanes, trains, and trucks.

For budding scientists of all ages, there's a Deluxe Model geiger counter.

CHILDREN who insist on learning while they play, there's a profusion of educational games, games to test knowledge of presidents, learn fractions, memorize state capitols, or polish up geography.

But in spite of the influence on toys exercised by Sputnik I and II, ICB missiles, uranium, and outer-space, there's the inevitable galaxy of toys which, like Christmases past, still find their way under the Christmas tree. What nostalgia for a 26-year-old to fondle the Tinker Toys, Pick-up Sticks, Lincoln Logs, and Erector sets.

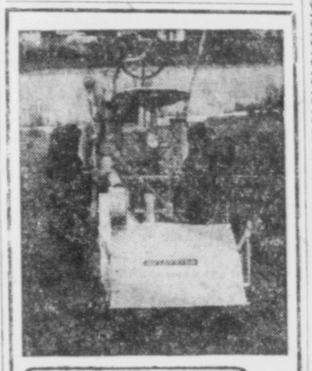

Christmas hasn't changed so much after all.

Way Back When

Everyone Had a Merry Time at '07 Wedding

50 Years Ago
December 27, 1907

Every good citizen should square up all accounts before starting the New Year, if not by cash then by good notes. Our fine sleighing and lovely moonlight nights eloped suddenly about a week ago and have not returned yet.

Miss Gertrude Landmeier, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Landmeier, of Elk Grove, and Mr. Henry Dierking, only son of Frank Dierking of Mannheim, were united in marriage at Rev. Wolf's church December 15. About 100 invited friends attended the reception and partook of the wedding feast. After supper all had a merry time, singing dancing and playing cards until 3 o'clock next morning. Wine, beer and cigars were served freely. The happy couple will make their home on the Frank Dierking farm at Mannheim.

WHEELING — Ernst Garpow has moved to the Utpadel farm in the woods across the river.

Mrs. Chris Birk and Miss Mabel Periolat were too ill to enjoy Christmas.

Hiram H. Cody died at his residence in Chicago in his eighty-fourth year. In 1844 he had settled in Bloomingdale after coming from New York state. Four years afterward he was elected clerk of the County Commissioners Court of Du Page County and moved to Naperville, where upon adoption of the constitution of 1848 he was elected the first county clerk of Du Page county, which office he held for six years. During his term of office he read law and was admitted to the bar. In 1861 he was nominated as county judge and in 1874 judge of the fourth judicial circuit, then comprising Kane, DuPage and Kendall counties. At the close of his term in 1879 he became a member of the law firm of Gary, Cody & Gary in Chicago. One of his partners was E. H. Gary, now at the head of the United States Steel Corporation.

Christmas cheer in Palatine rose above financial stringency and was celebrated as much if not more so than in former years. The post office was taxed to its utmost capacity. Christmas cards were more prominent than ever. Where usually only half a bag of mail was received or sent away, four and five sacks had to be disposed of.

The public school held exercises Tuesday afternoon and Santa was there. The little tots at the kindergarten were not forgotten by the "old man." He called on them in the morning and was royally welcomed.

The M. E. Sunday school took up the attention of Old Santa in the evening and he had a box of candy and bag of nuts for everyone who is good and goes to Sunday school — whether child or grown person. An exceptionally fine program was given. The feature of the evening was a dumbell drill by Mrs. Anderman's class.

THE LUTHERAN CHURCH held their exercises the same evening. The scholars were a credit to their teacher Schreiner. The St. Paul's Sunday school had the usual exercises, which was enjoyed by a large audience.

Probably few of our citizens know of the excellent work being done by Miss Delia Knigge, at the Art Institute. Several of her pictures have received honorable mention, besides a few prizes.

Bloomingdale's oldest settler, Clarinda Falor Ellis died December 12. She was born in New York in 1825 and came to Chicago when a child. She was united in marriage to Eliason Ellis in 1852 and a few years after they moved to Bloomingdale township where they have made their home ever since. She was a member of the Baptist church about 50 years.

Sunday, Dec. 22 was a proud day for Itasca when the pastors and many parishoners of sister churches united with them to help dedicate the new Evangelical Lutheran church and swell the day for Itasca citizens.

For many years the people of this vicinity have contributed their share to spread the gospel; they have also liberally supported a German parochial school at Itasca as part of the Zion congregation in Addison, but the time came when the growth of population and wealth of this community warranted them in having a place of worship nearer home. Last Easter the idea was born; July 14 St. Luke's congregation was organized; Rev. F. Zersen was called from the missionary field in North Dakota and August 25 was installed as pastor.

THE NEW EDIFICE is 36x58 ft. with vestibule 16x22 and a basement under all. The pews are of antique oak with comfortable seating capacity for 615 and 1000 people could easily be accommodated. It is well lighted by ten large windows by day and brilliant gas light when needed. The church can be seen for miles around as it stands on a hill and the steeple is 104 ft. high. The altar and pulpit are tasty works of art that cost $400.

On December 22 there were services. Rev. Theiss of Schaumburg, preached in the morning, Rev. Richter of Rodenburg at 2 p.m., and Prof. Director Blohm spoke in English at 7:30 p.m.

For fun and laughter, and smiles thereafter, go to the entertainment — musical, comic, dramatic — given by St. Mary's Church choir of Buffalo Grove at Firnbach's Hall, January 6 and 9. Adults 25 cents, children 15 cents.

Melvin Poyer sold his 80-acre farm on Mt. Prospect ave. to Wm. F. Wille of Elk Grove at $300 an acre.

Bloomingdale — Irvin Franzen and wife received a baby boy as a Christmas present.

Bensenville—H. D. Franzen had a Heckzen Schus in his back last week.

Mrs. H. D. Franzen did her Christmas showing Tuesday.

Harry Franzen delivered mail on route 2 last week, while our assistant carrier was busy in the office.

EUGENE FRANZEN was pleasantly surprised by his classmates in honor of his 15th birthday.

Santa Claus visited both E. Franzen's and A. Knaack's homes leaving a player piano and another kind.

Schaumburg and Elk Grove townships are famous for their sturdy industrious and prosperous citizens of German birth; but true American patriotism. Another union of two prominent families has been consumated and future generations will prove the wisdom of their selection. All honor to them and their posterity.

Mr. Herman Behrens, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Behrens of Elk Grove, and Miss Annie Botterman, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Botterman of Schaumburg, were united in matrimony Sunday, Dec. 23.

The war is blamed for many things but it can be credited with the deeper meaning that Christmas, 1917, had for the people of Arlington Heights.

Palatine—The second patriotic meeting, under the auspices of the local Council of Defense was—to use a small boy's words, a red hot one. Every man in Palatine should have been present and heard the truths spoken. The speakers at the opening of their talk warned the conservative Pro-German, if there were any present, that the Kaiser, was going to "get his."

THE WAR DID not dim the Christmas Spirit in Palatine. In fact, it shown brighter than ever, but it was a new kind of Christmas. Whole families omitted the usual gifts to each other and gave to charity and the war funds. The $500 Red Cross fund was the greatest of all Palatine Christmas gifts.

Over 400 little tots gave Santa a hearty welcome at Palatine Monday. The old man arrived in town in his air ship at 9:20 making his headquarters at Schweitzer's. This was his first daylight visit to Palatine since the days when Thies & Ost brot him to their store.

The Palatine Fire department is playing Santa Claus to the whole community in a most unusual manner this year. They are presenting to Palatine a fine new fire truck, full equipped and paid for.

Governmental approval of recent requisitions means that weather permitting, construction work upon the field house in Recreation park will be resumed in the near future.

While the breath of the elements was disturbed and icy, a warm spirit of hospitality and good fellowship prevailed as members and friends of the Presbyterian church in Wheeling welcomed the Rev. E. Leslie Shaw to the pastorate Friday evening.

Mr. Joe Bucknell of Jackson, Mich. who formerly made his home in Arlington Heights at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Paddock, died suddenly Wednesday morning.

'Direct Quotes' From Back Issues

"Way Back When" has proven to be one of the most popular features in Paddock Publications.

The weekly column, published on the feature-editorial page of all Paddock newspapers, consists of direct quotes from back issues of the papers and includes items from 50, 40, 30, and 20 years ago.

THE VITALITY and informality of country journalism at the turn of the century is captured each week in the column, which frequently mentions names, dates, places, and events familiar even to younger generations.

Items for "Way Back When" are secured from the microfilm records of Paddock Publications. They span the years 1898 through 1957 and are edited by Anita Wilkins.

The Way We See It

A Christmas Prayer: Peace, Understanding Everywhere

This is a Christmas in which America faces one of the most critical periods in its history. Our democratic, free society is being challenged as never before in the arena of ideas and deeds. Hanging in the balance between success and failure is the dignity and destiny of free men everywhere.

Recent reports from Washington reveal that America's long-term prospect is one of cataclysmic peril in the face of powerful, growing Soviet economy and technology which will bring new political propaganda and psychological assaults on freedom all around the globe.

In recent months, we as a nation have been forced to strip away the complacency and lay bare the highly unpleasant reality of the relative postures of the United States and the free world and of the Soviet Union and the communist orbit.

He whose birth we celebrate brought to earth the gifts of love and peace, understanding and brotherhood. It is this heritage of great gifts which will give us the strength and the inspiration to achieve success in meeting the challenge of totalitarianism.

This is the season of hope and rejoicing.

Our Christmas Prayer for 1957 looks toward that day when all the world abounds in spiritual joys, blessed by peace and happiness, faith and good will.

Cost of Providing Parks Is Well Worth It to Community

Thousands of times the question has been asked: Why do people move to the suburbs?

We think we've heard all the answers and dozens of variations on them. Boiled down, they add up to one simple statement: The move to the hinterlands is mostly "for the sake of the kids."

Parents want their children to receive the better schooling promised in the suburbs. They also want them to have more opportunities for wholesome fun. Having a good time is half of growing up and wise parents make sure there are opportunities for a good time in healthy surroundings. Looming large in the decision to come to the suburbs is this desire for better recreation facilities.

Three of the newest (in one sense or another) communities in the northwest area are now tossing around the pros and cons of improving such facilities by organizing park districts.

Most park activities take place in the summer, so this may seem an odd time of year to talk about parks. But building parks isn't a 3-week proposition. It requires months of careful planning to acquire land, design a swimming pool or a fieldhouse and take bids.

This year there has been lots of discussion in Rolling Meadows about forming a park district. One of the obstacles holding back the project was the cumbersome process of disconnecting from the Palatine rural park district. Residents paid taxes to this district but got no observable benefits in return.

Wheelingites recently began to consider the merits of a park district. The town is young in the sense that its population was less than 1,000 only 3 years ago. A special census completed last week showed it has 5,400 residents.

There is even interest in creating a park district in Elk Grove Village, where the first of an eventual 6,000 homes was occupied but 2 months ago. Such a suggestion to village officials at a board meeting several weeks ago met with a sympathetic response.

In common with other communities which have sprouted overnight from farmland, all 3 towns need many kinds of costly services. Of course their residents would enjoy such fancy layouts at the new Pioneer park in Arlington Heights. The question is not whether parks are wanted or needed. Suburbia's hard-working home owners instead have to decide this crucial question: What do we need most—more police, more fire fighting equipment, more water mains and sewers or more parks?

Arlington Heights and Palatine have been running park districts for a number of years. In the 2 years since Mount Prospect established its park district, a broad program of recreation for all age groups has been initiated, complete with pool and fieldhouse.

The experience of these older villages may be valuable to young communities faced with similar needs.

The cost of constructing places to swim, skate, dance and the like is the first thing most taxpayers want to know. The initial cost sounds, and is, high. But the sums are less frightening when you remember that they are paid back over many years.

Prospect Heights, roughly in a population class with Wheeling, built its pool for about $100,000. Its bigger neighbors spent more: Palatine put $265,000 into a park and pool that opened in 1956, Mount Prospect's Lions park pool and bathhouse cost $295,000, while Arlington Heights poured just over $600,000 into developing Pioneer park, with its pool, community building, tennis courts, skating shelter and playing fields.

How much do these facilities cost the average home owner?

Let's take a Palatine home owner, as the tax rate of his park district is lower than that of Arlington or Mount Prospect. On a home valued for tax purposes at $10,000, the owner this year paid $20 in taxes to the park district. About $9 of this sum goes to interest and retirement of park construction bonds. The other $11 provides funds for the recreation program and administrative expenses.

Mount Prospect's tax rate is very little more than Palatine's. But because there are more homes and businesses paying taxes, Mount Prospect has more funds available. Its program offers a greater variety of activities on a year-round basis.

The owner of the same $10,000 home in Arlington Heights contributed $33 to support his parks this year, twice as much as he did the previous year. Few taxpayers are likely to squawk, however, when they view their purchase at beautiful Pioneer park.

None of the 3 towns considering formation of park districts could immediately afford facilities as lavish as those of Arlington Heights. But there are cheaper ways of getting what you want, as Prospect Heights has shown.

Providing our youth with parks is going to cost a few dollars. But the amount is only pennies compared to the cost of paying juvenile police officers and building detention homes.

In The Shadow Of The Steeple

Preparation Necessary For Christmas Message

by REV. WILLIAM McGILL

Were there shepherds on the Judean hillside who did not see the star, did not hear the angels singing, did not make the trip to Bethlehem?

When the others came back, telling all that they had heard and seen, were there some who said, "I didn't see or hear anything?"

WHY SHOULDN'T they all have seen and heard? Some might have been asleep, but then every Nativity play I have ever seen represents at least one of the shepherds being awakened by the brilliance of the light.

Maybe they were intent on the profit they expected out of this year's flock. Lost in their thoughts of lambing and shearing, they may have had no time to look up or to listen.

What must have been in the minds of some of these in Jerusalem who told the Wise Men that the King was to be born in Bethlehem of Judah? They apparently watched these visitors from a far country ride off and went back to business as usual.

EVERYBODY seemed to be concerned when the Magi arrived. But nobody became really concerned until they failed to come back saying, "It was all a mistake." Then Herod the king said, "We'll make sure that no king is born in Bethlehem."

It's possible to have gone through all of the normal preparations whhich our families and our neighbors expect of us — and to have missed the point of it all.

THERE HAS TO BE some preparation for the message to be heard. An attitude of expectancy, a willingness to learn, a simplicity of spirit, a concern for those who are without the Word or the Light — there is a quality in a life which makes that life ready to see the star, ready to hear the song of the angels.

What makes it difficult to describe is the paradox that if you think you have the quality which makes your life ready to see the star or hear the song — if you think you have it, you probably have not.

For it requires a sense of humility and a capacity for wonder, and these we cannot evaluate in ourselves.

Down-to-Earth Education

Since the failure of American science to keep pace with Russian developments, education has suddenly assumed a greater importance in our minds. No doubt, some Bensenville people were influenced by this matter when they voted for the new school Saturday. They will now, in usual American fashion, drop back into their apathy until the next crisis comes along, thinking that they have done their bits. But let us take a closer look at the situation.

1,538 votes cast may be a record, but it is only a small part of the total registration. What about the other large part; don't they care about education? Until the percentage of voters who take part in referenda increases to a respectable figure, this "record turnout" can hardly be called a victory for either a school issue or the "American system."

If this building follows the recent style, it will contain 16 rooms which are spread over nearly as many acres. In a time when land is costly and hard to obtain, why are we forced by the school boards to pay tremendous sums for huge land parcels to build country-club-type schools? A modest building can be just as useful, and a flight of two of stairs will do no serious harm to any of the users. Asked why this extravagance was necessary, a teacher replied, "Well, it is better suited to the needs of the school program." The lack of a Ph. D. prompted a request for more explanation. "Oh, they (the administration) don't discuss that with us." Small wonder we are dropping to a second or third rate nation if we have this type of staff, program, and administration.

Before we break our arms patting ourselves on the backs for our "acceptance of our civic responsibility in the field of education," we should ask ourselves if money would not be better spent in compact buildings and better educational programs. After all, schools are for training, not style and luxury.

If our school boards will not treat our wallets with more respect and face the needs more realistically, they should be forced out of office. If our teachers do not serve the needs, fire them. If the program does not offer down-to-earth education, revise it. It is up to us to do this, and if we refuse to, we deserve all the Sputniks and H-bombs the Russians can afford to drop.

Increased Arlington Sewer Costs

There is a reasonable doubt, with respect to the interpretation of a postal card memorandum attached to a similar questionnaire in connection with a comprehensive survey and report on the Arlington Heights sewer system.

One item which is doubtful as well as alarming and which needs a good deal of clarification is as follows:

"As any improvements which may result from this survey must be paid for by the taxpayer, an accurate survey will be to everyone's advantage."

Whose advantage? What taxpayer? Where are improvements to be made? What about people whose property does not need any additional sewer?

Taxpayers who have paid and borne the cost of the Arlington Heights sewer system, which was installed prior to the development of the outlying subdivisions and who, for a long period of years, have had adequate sewer facilities, should be vitally interested in any survey or developments which will increase their sewer costs.

When the said sewer system was installed, the properties served thereby, were charged prorata costs by special assessments levied against the various parcels on or adjacent to "Streets and Avenues" served by the sewer system, and not by any tax included with water bills or any other tax.

The subdivisions which were inundated and where many residences were damaged, by the "Storm of July 12, 1957," were primarily, developed recently and some of them are on or adjacent to areas which formerly were ponds or creek bottoms.

Permits for the erection of homes in these areas were no doubt obtained by an assumption or premise that adequate sewers were available and would so be for some time.

In the event that a "Comprehensive Survey" and report reveals that adequate sewer facilities do not or did not exist in certain areas, the obvious remedy would be to install adequate sewer facilities and to defray the cost therefor by special assessments levied against the areas or properties affected, which are on or adjacent to the new improvements; not by a tax or any other devise levied against taxpayers who do not or will not benefit from any improvements in those areas.

It should be borne in mind that the deluge which occurred July 12, 1957, could or should be construed as an "Act of God" and which may not occur again, as it did, for over fifty (50) years. The entire village deplores the catastrophe which occurred and many who were not affected assisted those who were severely damaged.

Howeer in fairness to those properties and people who paid and bore the costs of the present sewer system, they should not be compelled to bear additional costs for improvements, except when and where they benefit directly by new improvements.

A copy of this article is being sent to the village engineers and the village trustee who is assigned as chairman of the sewer committee.

Any idea of a general tax instead of special assessments against properties directly affected, is preferential, prejudicial and discriminary and should not be resorted to even though it may benefit the new subdivisions.

Look Here — 'Good Cheer'

There once was a town "The City of Good Neighbors,
Where people enjoyed the fruits of their labors;
Where families in their homes did happily live,
Knowing the advantages this town could give;
Churches, schools and parks were theirs
And Village officials who took interest in their affairs.

These same officials thought it time for a change,
And the liquor license number they did rearrange;
By a 5-0 vote this calamity was passed,

So much liquor per capita has never been surpassed;
Grocers and drugstores may have capital to invest,
But Village officials must do what for the people is best.
If capital is the only criterion we need,
Then perhaps we should all take serious heed;
Lest anyone with enough money be next
To get a liquor license on any pretext;
Maybe next summer it will be more than a rumor,
That they'll be selling "Good Cheer" like they do "Good Humor."

Shopping Prospect Heights

by CAROL BUNTING

In the men's department you will find "foamtreads," a washable corduroy slipper, with a foam rubber sole. They are like walking on a cloud. They also have the standard Rippon slipper socks in both the high and the low sock styles.

FOR A DRESSIER type slipper, perhaps Dad would like an all leather opera in the full shoe type or perhaps in the new scuff style.

Tomorrow is the big day, and if you are still scurrying around for a last minute Christmas present for any member of the family, be sure to stop in at Bill's Shoes in the Prospect Heights shopping center and select a pair of slippers for that certain party.

The women's department has handsome fur and jewel trimmed scuffs as well as standard moccasins. There are several new types of stretch slippers that will fit any size foot and are trimmed in gold and silver with clever pompon trimming.

For the children you will find fancy velvet mules for the young ladies, and zippered boots for the toddler set. They also have moccasins for the young set.
